Thousands Move From Mississippi As Flood Grows

One Concentration Camp Receives 15,000 and Others Extend Shelter to Many Retreating From Marginal Lands as Waters Pound Levees, With Ohio Flood Pouring Into Bigger River; Known Death-list Now Stands at 330

Associated Press
Flood waters of the north, unrelenting after a $400,000,000 scourge of the Ohio River Valley, began a plundering invasion into the heart of the "Deep South" today.

Scores of villages and countless farms along the 200-mile stretch from Cairo, Ill., to Memphis, Tenn., swam deep in the rising yellow tide of the Mississippi, fed at a rate of nearly 3,000,000 cubic feet a second by the falling Ohio.

The crest was still to come—at noon today it was reported just above Paducah, Ky.

Disaster figures:
Known dead, 330; homeless, 1,035,000; property loss, $400,000,000.

With rain and snow forecast, a pick-and-shovel army of 100,000 tolled to fortify the billion-dollar levee system, ranging southward from Cairo, that guards the rich cotton delta lands along the Mississippi.

United States coastguard cutters shuttled up and down the restive waters on "picket duty," watching for weak spots or new breaks in the levees. Warned of impending danger, new hordes of refugees streamed from the low-lying marginal lands along the Mississippi.

ONE CAMP HAS 15,000.
Tent cities sprang up on highlands and ridges thirty miles from the river to house temporary "orphans of the flood." At Barton, near Helena, Ark., one single concentration camp received 15,000 refugees. Ten additional centres were spotted. Thousands of others were removed to East Arkansas cities and to Memphis. And last night, in the darkness, around the red-flaming campfires, voices lifted in prayerful, hysteria-touched song:

"River, Stay 'Way from My Door"
Every levee throughout the Mississippi system was holding today—and U.S. army engineers predicted they would continue to hold, barring the unexpected.

In Little Rock, Ark., Governor Carl E. Bailey declined eastern offers of aid.

New Type Of Charge Studied

Special Indictment in Auto Death Cases Suggested For Canada

The possibility of creating a new form of indictment of lesser degree than manslaughter, to be used in fatal auto accident cases, is being studied by provincial law officers here and in other parts of Canada for recommendation to the federal authorities.

Study of the matter has arisen because of the disinclination of juries to convict drivers of the serious crime of manslaughter when they have been negligent in automobile crashes involving death. Law enforcement officers feel that if a lesser indictment could be created which, at the same time, carried heavier penalties than the usual "driving to the common danger" section, it would prove an effective weapon in curbing dangerous drivers.

Figures for British Columbia in the year 1935, the latest available in complete form, show only two convictions for manslaughter were registered when ninety people were killed in automobile accidents. These deaths occurred in eighty-three separate crashes and sixteen of those killed were the drivers. Twenty-one charges of manslaughter were formally laid and nineteen were dismissed, either by lower courts or juries. The two drivers convicted served a year or less.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Announcement was made today by the Bank of Canada on behalf of the Minister of Finance that tenders had been accepted for the full amount of $30,000,000 Dominion treasury bills due May 1. The average discount price was 99.815 and the average yield .739 per cent.

PORT STRIKE IS NEARING END

Harry Bridges Says Rank and File Want Settlement Along U.S. Pacific Coast and Nothing Can Change That Settlement

Associated Press
San Francisco, Jan. 29.—The end of the long United States Pacific Coast maritime strike was reported in sight today by maritime leaders.

Harry Bridges, longshore leader, and Harry Lundberg, sailors' secretary, informed Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco, that a rapid series of negotiations had brought the long shipping tieup near an end.

"There is a growing sentiment in the rank and file for settlement, and nothing can change the sentiment for settlement at this time," Bridges declared.

TWO GROUPS NEGOTIATE
Bridges reported that only two of the seven unions involved, the American Radio Telegraphers' Association, and the Cooks and Stewards, had not reached agreements.

He said differences between those two groups and the employers must be arrived at before a union membership referendum could be called to vote on ending the strike.

Leaders of the two unions, however, declared they would go back to work and then arbitrate the issues still in dispute.

"These" issues included working hours for the cooks and increased pay for the radio operators.

Scene of Florida Highway Disaster

There was a tragic conclusion to a sightseeing tour from Miami west to the Florida Everglades when the big bus carrying the travelers lost a wheel and plunged into a canal which parallels the Tamiami Trail. Seventeen of the passengers lost their lives. Thirteen escaped from the vehicle, most of them pulled out by one or two who had made their own way out. The picture above shows how the big car rested in the canal after the accident.

Empire Influenced By Privy Council Canada Judgments

London Daily Herald Says All Commonwealth Affected; London Morning Post States India Watching

Canadian Press From Havas
London, Jan. 29.—Invalidation by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council here of Canadian "New Deal" legislation will bring "deep resentment in Canada at the realization that legally five British judges can restrict the legislative powers of the Dominion Government," The London Daily Herald, Labor, warned today.

"The effect on imperial relations may be most serious," The Daily Herald said.

OVERLAPPING SEEN
The London Morning Post, Conservative, commented: "The Canadian 'New Deal' now meets in law the same fate as its progenitor."

"In spite of the elevation of the Dominion above the provinces, some overlapping and some occasional conflict have proved inevitable. Yesterday, for instance, the Dominion rested the case for regulation of the infringed constitutional rights of the Dominion provinces."

"If Canadian legislation is to be satisfactory to cover every aspect of Canadian life, then it can only be by co-operative action by the Dominion and provincial governments."

INDIA WATCHES

"Whether that is a desirable condition is a matter for the Canadian people, not for us. But on the eve of the introduction of the federal constitution in India, it is worth while paying attention to this latest indication of the unsuspected way in which federation may work."

SLOAN CLAIMS REVISION NEED

Canada Must Have Full Control Over Own Constitution, Says B.C. Minister

Control by Canada over its own constitution has been long needed in the opinion of Attorney-General Gordon Sloan. In commenting today on the constitutional issue, Mr. Sloan said:

"I am pleased to note that the trend of public thought is once more turned toward the revision of the B.N.A. Act."

"A Canadian constitution as a statute of the Canadian National Parliament has been a vital need for some time past."

"With the constitution of Canada domiciled in Canada, where it belongs, and with the power vested in the Canadian Parliament to amend its provisions in the light of constitutional developments and needs we would be making an advance toward the solution of many of our problems arising out of Dominion-provincial relationships."

"Following the last Dominion-provincial conference, a subcommittee, which I had the privilege of attending, made, in my opinion considerable progress in working out the machinery by means of which the objective sought could be attained."

"Our aim at that time was to find means of creating a more flexible means of constitutional amendment with due regard to minority rights and to the maintenance of effective checks against too great a centralization of power in Ottawa."

"Much of the ground work has been done and I feel convinced the way can be found."

OTHER OPINIONS

Canadian Press
Canadian provinces, upheld in their contention that a majority of Bennett government reform measures exceeded federal powers, swung quickly into line yesterday in a move to have co-operative government action on legislation ruled invalid by the Privy Council.

"Now that the air is cleared and the B.N.A. Act still stands as the charter of provincial sovereignty, we might well get on with a general conference of all interested parties," said Hon. J. B. McNeill, attorney-general of New Brunswick.

Effect of the decisions emphasized the need for the provinces to pass enabling legislation where it was required, Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general of Manitoba, said at Winnipeg.

"The question of constitutional revision will be brought directly to the fore," he said.
Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, responsible for some of the legislation, declared the Privy Council's findings "merely accentuate the need for an early non-partisan conference with regard to necessary modification of the British North America Act."

Teacher Held For Extortion

G-men Arrest F. Eiden at St. Paul, Minn.; Letter to E. G. Bremer

Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 29.—J. Edgar Hoover said today United States Government agents had arrested Fred Eiden at St. Paul, Minn., on charges of attempting to extort $10,000 from Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker.

SCHOOL TEACHER
St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29.—Clinton W. Stein, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here, disclosed that the man under arrest for attempting to extort $10,000 from Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker who three years ago paid $200,000 for his release from kidnappers, had been employed as a public school teacher until two weeks ago.

The letter Stein said Fred Eiden, thirty-eight, sent Bremer, last Monday, read:

"Keep ten thousand dollars on your person to be delivered to me when I come. I will meet you on the street. Give me an envelope marked 'Hello, Ed.' Otherwise more trouble for your personal health."

Stein said Eiden did not approach Bremer for the money, the arrest being made before this took place.

SNOW TO COME AFTER TODAY

Cold Winds Will Continue Throughout Night and Will Be Followed By Snow

Little change in temperature today, with continuation of cold winds from the north throughout the night and the possibility of snow tomorrow were forecast this morning by W. A. Thorn, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill, in his daily weather report this morning.

Because of continued absence of ships from the North Pacific shipping lanes, due to the maritime strike, observers at Gonzales are handicapped in their weather forecasts. Mr. Thorn said. Much of the Pacific Coast's weather originates from the North Pacific, in the region just south of the Aleutian Islands.

The minimum temperature this morning at Gonzales was twenty-two degrees—ten degrees of frost. On the lower levels it was much colder.

Under the influence of the sun the thermometer rose at noon to twenty-nine degrees, but it was not expected to go much higher. The air was bright and clear and the snow-covered Olympics and Sooke Hills stood out in bold relief against the blue sky.

The wind blew throughout the night in gusts of thirty-two miles, at times going a little higher. It was mostly from the north.

Up-Island it was much colder. Unofficial thermometers at Duncan showed the temperature dropped to three above zero. There is also much snow on up-island roads.

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Thermometers in Vancouver dropped again during the night, reaching a low of fourteen degrees after hovering around freezing point for several days, and the official weather forecast indicated more cold weather could be expected.

"Moderate north and east winds, partly cloudy and continued cold," was predicted.

Judges at Moscow Retire to Consider Fate of Seventeen

Karl Radek and 16 Others Who Confessed Anti-Soviet Plot Are Expected to Be Condemned to Death

Associated Press
Moscow, Jan. 29.—The military collegium of the Soviet Supreme Court retired tonight to consider its verdict against seventeen seemingly doomed men on trial for, allegedly plotting the overthrow of Russian Government.

Presiding Judge Vasily reentered court at 7:10 p.m. (9:10 a.m., P.S.T.) The verdict of the judges was expected around midnight (2 p.m., P.S.T.).

The court had previously heard "final words" from the defendants, some of whom pleaded for mercy while others attacked the prosecution.

Karl Radek, former authoritative commentator for the newspaper Izvestia, predicted the probable decision when he said defiantly: "We shall pay for our crimes with our heads."

Unrepentant to the end, Radek made no effort to defend himself. ADMITS TREASON

"I admit the treason. I do not defend myself," Radek told the court. "There are no extenuating circumstances."

Unlike Gregory Platkov, who renounced his association with Leon Trotsky, exiled Bolshevik leader and foe of the Stalin regime in Russia, Radek made no effort to shift the blame.

His weird whiskers and dun-colored old blouse gave the writer the appearance of a farmer as he defiantly told the court.

FIRE IN SHIP IS PUT OUT

Ss. Shawnee Off U.S. Atlantic Coast Cancels SOS When Blaze Extinguished

Associated Press
New York, Jan. 29.—The captain of the coastwise steamship Shawnee wireless late this morning he had succeeded in extinguishing a fire in the No. 2 hold after a fight of several hours during which he dispatched a peremptory SOS distress call.

Laden with 100 passengers and a cargo of fruits, vegetables and cotton, the Shawnee, of 6,200 tons, with a crew of 174, was bound from Jacksonville and Miami for New York when her master wireless a call from a position off Cape Henry, Virginia, for assistance at 7 a.m., E.S.T.

The Ss. "City of Birmingham" and the coastguard responded. An hour and twenty minutes later the Shawnee advised all ships in the vicinity the fire was under control.

WATCHFULNESS URGED
Then, at 9:50 a.m., E.S.T., the captain wireless his New York office: "Fire in cotton now out. Proceeding to New York."

Before the fire had been completely extinguished, however, the Shawnee added this precautionary wireless: "We do not require assistance at this time. Please keep a sharp watch."
(Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

The minister was answering questions proposed by M. J. Coldwell, C.E.F., Rosetown, Sask., and Wilfrid Gariepy, Liberal, Three Rivers, Que.

NO ORDER YET
The government had passed no order-in-council nor contemplated any to declare the British Foreign Enlistment Act of 1870 applicable to the present Spanish war, Mr. Lapointe said. It had examined the question of enlistment and considered the British act was already in force in Canada.

In Great Britain it had been held the act did not apply to civil wars, but an order-in-council had declared the government's opinion the act did apply to the Spanish war. Canada was not represented on the Non-Intervention Committee of European states which was endeavoring to stop enlistments in the naval Spanish forces from European countries.

BILL DRAFTED
After considering the whole question of enlistments as well as of the export of munitions, the government had decided there should be Canadian legislation, the minister said. A bill was being drawn up and would be introduced shortly.

MINISTER OF ALBERTA QUILTS

MANY PERISH IN EUROPEAN GALE

Sinking of Tanker Oliner Brings Sea Toll to 74 With Others Feared Lost; Floods, Snow and Ice; Britain Suffers Losses

Associated Press
London, Jan. 29.—Stubborn storms spread havoc on land and water across western Europe today. At least seventy-four persons were reported to have perished at sea.

Latest ship to fall to the fury of the wind and sea was the 1,100-ton tanker Oliner. She sank in boiling seas off the small island of Borkum in the North Sea.

The captain and sixteen men were reported lost. The great liner Europa stood by, able to rescue only three men.

However, the storm-beaten, 4,850-ton Brazilian liner Santos, unheard from since reporting she was disabled and drifting toward the rocky Berlingas Islands off the coast of Portugal, was towed to safety at Lisbon, Lloyds reported. One hundred persons were aboard.

FLOODS AND SNOW
Floods were an inland ally of the storm. Fishing boats carried food to inhabitants of Lagraudrol, a flood-marooned village on the Allier River in central France.

More than 150 persons, marooned at Askerwell Downs, succeeded in reaching Bridport, Dorset, this afternoon after emergency gangs had cleared huge snow drifts from the highway.

An Associated Press dispatch yesterday said:

Chancellor Hitler was reported today in inner Nazi circles to be preparing to dissolve the Reichstag in its present bulky form when it convenes Saturday. These circles said they expected Hitler would declare the state no longer needs a body of 741 men existing only to act as a sounding board for special pronouncements.

When conditions are ready for this step, it is said the Nazis plan to create a substitute for the Reichstag in the form of a smaller, more compact body comparable to Premier Mussolini's Grand Council or the Japanese Council of Elders.

The number aboard was not determined. It had been reported yesterday that the Dutch vessel Achilles had successfully removed the Jonge Jacobus's crew, but the captain of the Achilles, on arrival here today, said his rescue attempt was too late.

POPE GAINING, SAY DOCTORS

More Indications of Convalescence Than Active Illness Are Reported

Vatican City, Jan. 29.—Although wearied by his long illness, Pope Pius was described today by reliable sources as showing "more of the characteristics of convalescence than of active illness."

The Holy Father's doctors considered the local condition in his legs to be satisfactory. Pressure on his heart was relieved by improved circulation.

Yesterday evening the Pope felt sufficiently improved to resume powers he had delegated to subordinates a month ago. He revoked the extraordinary authority he had conferred on a small group of cardinals, heads of congregations and executive officers on December 28, and instructed them to resume conferences with him on all matters of importance.

Madrid, Jan. 29.—A Fascist attack against newly won Socialist positions in West Park, dominating the University City sector of Madrid, was repulsed today.

Reinforcements were brought up hastily to entrench the Socialists in West Park.

Big Tire Plant Scene of Strike

Some of Goodrich Staff at Akron, Ohio, Quit; Join in Sitdown

Akron, O., Jan. 29.—The large tire manufacturing plant of the B. F. Goodrich Co., employing 10,000 persons, was closed today as the result of a sit-down strike.

A meeting to discuss the shutdown was announced for this afternoon.

Due to a stoppage of work by thirty-one employees on the fourth shift in the company's compounding department it was necessary to halt all manufacturing operations at midnight, a company statement said.

Union officials said an undetermined number of workers remained in the plant, and would stay there pending the outcome of today's meeting.

Unspecified wage increases had been asked by a committee from the compounding department, Graham said.

Dollar Basis Ruled For Bonds

London, Jan. 29.—British dollar bonds, sold in the United States in 1937 and containing a gold payment clause, may be paid on the basis of the present dollar. The highest legal tribunal of the House of Lords made this ruling yesterday.

The decision upholds the British government's contention that payment was determined by United States law and the resolution of Congress that the government was only obliged to pay in lawful currency in respect to each nominal dollar.

Issued in 1927 in the amount of $145,587,000, the 5 1/2 per cent bonds are at present outstanding in the United States to the extent of about $20,000,000.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Plural authorities advised with interest news from London that the British House of Lords had ruled British dollar bonds might be redeemed in the United States on the basis of the present dollar, instead of the old gold equivalent, as Canada is considering a similar move.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, announced January 5 Parliament would be asked to approve legislation protecting debtors under Canadian law from possibility of having to pay premiums because of gold clauses in bonds.

Proposal to Substitute Chamber For Hanging in Canada Is Sent to Special Committee of Commons

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—House of Commons committee have not yet acted down to work, but their tasks are increasing. Two important matters to be considered are the suggestion that lethal gas chambers be substituted for the gallows in administering capital punishment in Canada and a detailed examination of the various methods under which the boundaries of electoral districts are determined.

Both subjects were dealt with at yesterday's sitting. Dr. J. K. Blair, Liberal, North Wellington, Ont., moved a private bill to substitute lethal gas for hanging, but it was shelved after a brief debate when Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, offered to submit the subject matter to a special committee of the House.

In introducing his bill Dr. Blair said public opinion favored the change. Practically all the provincial governments favored it. Most of the states of the United States had already adopted the lethal chamber. It brought death without suffering.

A central place of execution instead of having them performed in county jails was also urged by Dr. Blair. He said he was not proposing abolition of capital punishment.

A dying person could derive no benefit from pain, he argued, and "pain that is inflicted without a purpose is a sin against humanity."

Washington, Jan. 29.—Assigned by the government G-men today were investigating union leaders' charges that strikebreakers were sent across state lines to the scene of a General Motors strike at Anderson, Ind.

Officials who revealed that J. Edgar Hoover's agents had been given the task declared that under Federal law it was an offence to transport strikebreakers from one state to another for the purpose of interfering with peaceful picketing.

They said an affidavit had been received here saying that several carloads of "tough-looking men" had been recruited at St. Louis several days ago and transported in trucks to Anderson.

MANY DIE IN CAR MISHAPS

United States Motor Car Accident Deaths in 1936 Totaled 38,500

Associated Press

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Motor vehicle accident deaths in the United States reached an all-time record total of 38,500 in 1936, the National Safety Council said today, exceeding the previous mark of 37,000 set in 1935.

Tornadoes, floods, excessive heat and increased employment helped push the 1936 total of accident deaths from all causes to 111,000, wiping out the 1934 record of 101,139.

The council added that accidents had permanently disabled about 400,000 persons and temporarily disabled 10,300,000 others.

For the first time in eight years fatalities resulting from accidents within homes—39,000, or an advance of 7,500 from the 1935 figure—exceeded the number of deaths on the highways of the United States.

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Jan. 29.—Sir Percival Phillips, noted war correspondent who recently was brought home suffering from an illness contracted in Morocco, died today of acute nephritis. He was fifty-nine.

For more than thirty-five years Sir Percival reported wars, revolutions, disasters and historic events in all parts of the world. In 1919 he accompanied the then Prince of Wales on his tour of Canada, and as recently as a few months was in the Dominion.

He was born in the United States—at Brownsville, Pa.—and, after reporting the Greco-Turkish and Spanish-American wars for United States newspapers, joined the staff of The London Daily Express. He covered the Japanese earthquake of 1907, revolutions in Catalonia and Portugal, riots in France, the Italian campaign in Tripoli, the Coronation Durbar in India and the Balkan War of 1912-13.

At the outbreak of the Great War he was in Belgium and remained there until the fall of Antwerp late in 1914. Then, with the exception of a brief assignment to the Irish Rebellion in 1916, reported the activities on the Western Front.

POST-WAR ACTIVITIES

After the war, Sir Percival was in Egypt, Syria, Turkey and Greece, and accompanied the Prince of Wales to India and the Far East. About that time he joined The London Daily Mail, and investigated conditions in Iraq and wrote articles on Italian Fascism.

He went with the Prince of Wales to East Africa on the memorable trip that resulted in the present Duke of Windsor speeding back to London to the bedside of his father, King George V, who was gravely ill.

In 1934 he joined the staff of The London Daily Telegraph, reporting the Greek uprising of 1935 and the Italian campaign in Ethiopia. Afterwards he went to Spain, and then to Canada and the United States.

When taken ill a few weeks ago he was in Morocco in the course of preparing dispatches on the Spanish civil war.

Boy Injured By Broom Ski Pole

North Bay, Ont., Jan. 29.—After being driven sixteen miles in subzero weather, his body pierced by an improvised ski pole, ten-year-old Louis Johnson rested in the hospital here today with a good chance to recover.

The boy was skiing near his home at Beedridge, sixteen miles from North Bay, when he fell and a pointed broom handle he was using as a ski pole pierced his body on the left side, the point protruding five inches.

The broom handle was removed in the hospital and doctors found no vital organs were affected. The boy remained conscious during the trip to North Bay.

Esquimalt To Hear Bus Plans

Council Will Consider Three Companies' Proposals
Shortly

The Esquimalt Council will give representatives of three companies an opportunity to talk over bus service schemes for the municipality following its next regular meeting.

At a meeting of the council last night, letters were received from the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited and Western Motor Tours, all submitting plans for services between the municipality and Victoria either at the expiry of the present street car franchise or previous to that time.

The B.C. Electric suggested consideration might be given to the institution of an experimental bus service for Esquimalt.

The Council Lines asked that before any decision was reached on the subject consideration should be given to their plans.

The most detailed scheme came from the Western Motor Tours, who submitted a plan similar to that in operation between the city and Oak Bay, with a route along Esquimalt Road to Head Street, then by Lyall Street to the naval barracks. A half-hour service to be increased if warranted, and a 6-cent fare were included in the details.

"This is rather an important proposition," said Reeve Alexander Lockley, after the three letters had been read.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield suggested the council study the whole transportation question thoroughly in preparation for the end of the present franchise.

It would be good policy to submit the matter to the Inter-municipal Committee, and see how Esquimalt needs would dovetail with those of the city and the other municipalities, said Councillor Albert, Head.

Sewer Rent Up;
Tax Bonus Cut

The Esquimalt Council last night resolved to increase the sewer rental rate in the municipality from $1 to $1.50 per year.

The action was taken to keep the sewer frontage assessment rate at the figure of 8 cents per foot which has been in effect for several years. The rate formerly has been reduced from the basic 11 cents by the use of sinking fund surpluses.

Last year $4,500 was required to compensate for the lower rate. This year with a surplus of only about $4,300 available, the council was forced to increase the total levied on sewers, and believed that the extra cost would be more fairly divided by an alteration in the rental figure.

In line with current lower interest rates, the council voted to reduce the interest payable on prepaid taxes from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent for 1937.

Canada Now Has Credit Balance

Dominion Ahead on International Trade and Tourists in 1936, Report Shows

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Net credit balance of more than $318,000,000 was shown for Canada during 1936 in international payments of goods, services, gold and the principal capital items in Canada's international accounts, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The large credit balance was due principally to the exceptional excess of commodity exports. Two other principal sources of credit balance were in gold and international tourist traffic.

The commodity trade showed a net credit of $326,900,000; gold coin and bullion $128,800,000, tourist trade $165,000,000 for a total credit of $620,700,000.

Interest and dividend receipts and payments showed a debit of $250,000,000 and miscellaneous transaction a debit of $49,500,000 for a total of $299,500,000 leaving a net credit on current accounts at $321,200,000.

TRADE GROWING
Canada's trade bounded upward during 1936, the report shows. Total trade in the year was $1,663,092,000, compared with $1,388,658,000 in 1935.

Total domestic exports were worth $688,154,000 compared with $632,546,000. Imports were valued at $674,938,000 against $556,112,000.

The United Kingdom's trade with Canada totaled $222,802,000 against $223,567,000. Exports were worth $399,831,000 compared with $306,897,000 and imports $122,971,000 against $116,670,000.

TRADE WITH U.S.
The United States led foreign countries with trade amounting to $776,521,000 against $670,987,000 in 1935.

Exports to that country were worth $406,665,000 compared with $358,570,000, and imports $369,856,000 against $312,417,000.

Major Warder Head of Board

Chosen Chairman of Esquimalt Trustees For Sixth Successive Year

Major A. A. Warder will head the Esquimalt School Board for his sixth successive term this year. He was elected to the chairmanship at the group's first meeting of the year last night.

Trustee Arthur Crane, elected to fill the one-year term on the board left vacant by the resignation of James Elrick, was welcomed as a new member, and Trustees Major C. H. Bliman and Mrs. Sarah King were congratulated on their re-election.

The entire board will sit as finance committee during 1937. The building and grounds committee will be made up of Reeve Alexander Lockley and Trustees Warder, Crane and Bliman.

Trustee Mrs. King was chosen as health and morals committee.

The financial report for 1936 showed the board ended the year with a surplus of $611.

A special meeting will be held on February 11 to discuss 1937 estimates, it was announced. An application from teachers for a raise in salary was laid over until that time.

Superannuation Is Being Sought

Staff of Federal Service
Boats Want to Come
Under Act

A resolution in favor of bringing workers on vessels in the Dominion government service on the Pacific Coast under the Superannuation Act was endorsed at the monthly meeting of the district council of the Canadian Legion, held last night in the Pro Patria branch headquarters.

The resolution was sponsored by the Naval Veterans' branch.

A letter on the subject will be forwarded to Premier Mackenzie King. The letter will point out that these men have to maintain homes on shore, and that salaries after providing for families do not leave much to set aside against the time when, at sixty-five years of age, they are liable to compulsory retirement. The letter stresses that at the age of sixty-five new lines of gainful employment are difficult to obtain.

The communication indicates that the certainty of superannuation allowance would encourage the best type of young men to join the service and stay with it.

Endorsement was also given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce's action in petitioning for a first-class radio station in Victoria, connected with the CBC's transcontinental line.

It was decided to send a letter to the Veterans' Assistance Commission at Ottawa advising it as to the condition that has arisen in Victoria in the case of men who are considered by the authorities to be too old to go into provincial forestry and other camps and are not considered old enough by the commission for war veterans' allowances. The communication will point out that there are a number of men here who are finding it impossible to secure employment.

Check on Border Workers Urged

Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 29.—The committee yesterday voted a favorable report on a bill by Representative Schulte, Democrat, Indiana, which would restrict habitual commuting of aliens from Canada and Mexico into the United States to engage in skilled or unskilled labor.

Schulte said passage of the bill would affect about 200,000 workers who cross into the United States from border points from Canada and 100,000 Mexican workers.

DEBT INCREASE OVER REVENUE

Summary Shows Provinces
Borrowed Faster Than Income Grew

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Provincial debts increased at a greater rate than revenues between 1925 and 1935, according to a compilation made public yesterday by the Bank of Canada. This is the first of a series of monthly statistical summaries which the bank plans to issue.

The summary gives a number of the essential features of Canadian economy, including comparative figures for several years. Graphs show the trend, for example, of the liabilities and assets of the Bank of Canada, both of which have risen almost steadily since the bank started business in 1935.

Many of the tables present statistics already partially available in other forms from the Bureau of Statistics. One feature is a series of tables giving the provincial indebtedness.

INDEBTEDNESS DOUBLED

In 1935 the total indebtedness of the provinces in excess of the amount they had deposited in sinking funds was $513,400,000. Ten years later, in 1935, it was $1,022,100,000. The increase was 99 per cent.

Debts have been increasing faster than revenues. In 1926 the debt was 86 per cent of the annual revenue of the provinces. In 1935 it was 77 per cent.

The public debts of the provinces in 1935, less the sinking funds, with the relation of the debt to the annual income that year in brackets, follow:

Prince Edward Island $200,000 (381 per cent); Nova Scotia $81,100,000 (815); New Brunswick $84,900,000 (931); Quebec $109,500,000 (465); Ontario $688,800,000 (820); Manitoba $111,000,000 (761); Saskatchewan $183,400,000 (1,105); Alberta $165,600,000 (984); British Columbia $158,200,000 (598).

S. J. Drake Is Made Chairman

Chosen Oak Bay School
Board Head For Third Term

For his third consecutive term, S. J. Drake was elected chairman of the Oak Bay School Board at the statutory meeting of the trustees this week.

Personnel of all committees was unchanged from last year with the return by acclamation of Trustees Hew Peterson and Walter M. Walker, the retiring members.

Trustees Walker and Peterson were appointed as the finance committee and Trustees R. W. Murdoch and Charles Nickerson were named to the building and grounds committee.

The board has also made a start in considering the current year's estimates, although only preliminary review has been given the figures.

Last year the total expenditure of the trustees was $91,257, of which $77,656 was required from municipal revenue. The preliminary figures indicate there will be little change in the board's requirements this year. Additional expenditure is considered unlikely and it is reported there is a possibility the board will not require as much from municipal revenue as it did last year.

Purchase of 600 feet of cast iron pipe, at $27.05 per 100 feet, and 2,000 feet of copper pipe was authorized by the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

Are We Not Canada?

CANADA, YESTERDAY, WAS told by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, sitting in London, what statutes given the effect of law under the Bennett regime at Ottawa between 1934 and 1935 were intra vires and what were ultra vires or beyond the authority of the federal Parliament of Canada. These measures were declared valid by the London body:

1. The Dominion Trade and Industry Act, 1935.

This legislation authorizes the establishment of a federal commission with powers to regulate business provincially, interprovincially and in relation to the Dominion as a whole.

It arose from recommendations made by the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying.

The Supreme Court of Canada declared some sections valid and others invalid.

The Judicial Committee found the whole act valid, dismissed the appeal of the Ontario Attorney-General and allowed the cross-appeal of the Attorney-General of Canada.

2. Section 498A of the Criminal Code of Canada.

This provides penalties for violation of the regulations set up by the Dominion Trade and Industry Commission. A majority decision of the Canadian Supreme Court upheld the legislation.

The Privy Council also found the subsection valid and dismissed the appeal of the Attorney-General of British Columbia.

3. The Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, 1934, and an Amending Act of the following year.

It should be noted that the foregoing provides a means by which a farmer and his creditors might be brought together for a settlement of debts along bankruptcy lines but without actual recourse to the bankruptcy court. It was upheld by the Supreme Court at Ottawa.

The following measures, passed to the statute books of Canada by the Bennett regime, were declared not valid:

Employment and Social Insurance Act of 1935.

This measure provided for the creation of a contributory system of employment insurance and the setting up of employment agencies. The Canadian Supreme Court held the act invalid. Their lordships agreed and dismissed the appeal of the Attorney-General of Canada.

The Natural Products Marketing Act of 1934, and its amending act of the following year. These measures provided for the setting up of marketing boards for various classes of products with wide powers for control by the majority of producers. The Supreme Court of Canada unanimously declared the act ultra vires.

The point that naturally will strike all Canadians, whether native-born or whether Canadians by adoption, is why there should be any necessity for reference to this Dominion's legal problems to a tribunal three, five, or six thousand miles away. It is common knowledge that eminent British jurists have asked many times why, because the British North America Act happens to be a straight-laced piece of legislation—evolved, with consent, by the Parliament at Westminster—may not be removed by a simple arrangement between the provinces of Canada and the government of Great Britain.

After all, Canada, designated the Dominion second in stature among the family of the Britannic Commonwealth of Nations, ought to be able to deal with her own internal affairs, settle them to the satisfaction of her own people. True, we have among us many native-born who, for some extraordinary reason or another, cherish that inconquerable desire to defend the "quality nigger" reaction to modern democratic evolutionary processes.

As a result of the findings of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London yesterday, by the way, it is to be hoped that the government of Canada will insist the British North America Act be amended—that the legal basis of Confederation be put in such shape as to conform to changing conditions.

A Passing Phase

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO IT WAS suggested that before the New Year had dawned Madrid would be in possession of General Franco, the rebel leader of that minority element of Spain that is emulating Hitlerism, Mussolinism—and Mosleyism, and all the other "shirts."

The color of the upper garments of the upstairs of a product that the greed of war has produced will fade before very long. The plain man and the plain woman are getting positively "fed up" with the type of individual that is trying to give democracy its marching orders.

Long after the Hitlers, the Mussolinis, the Mosleys have ascended, perhaps, to their fathers, the will of the people, the common people, will prevail.

This Winter Weather

A STUBBORNLY UNMOVING mountain of tropical air off the south-eastern coast of North America that would not get out of the way and permit the normal mid-winter traffic of storms to flow in from the northwest, is the ultimate explanation of the vagaries of this winter. Ordinarily the north-westerly storms bring real winter cold to the central east, and the cold holds most of the seasonal precipitation in storage as snow and ice until time for the spring thaws. But with this persistent southeastern "high," driving the cold down our own Pacific Coast and keeping temperatures in the east abnormally warm ever since well back into December, there has been no snow. Repeated rains have kept the soil soggy, and when during the past two weeks a whole procession of "little lows" came marching along, dumping their moisture, there was nowhere for the water to go but off. And up came the rivers of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

That, in a nutshell, is the meteorologist's story of the present record-breaking flood disasters in the east, accompanied by an almost unprecedented measure of snowy and freezing weather on the western slope of the continent from British Columbia to Mexico.

The floods of the early spring of 1936 in the east followed a somewhat similar situation, weather scientists explain. In fact, a persistent high-pressure area in the southeast is not an unusual phenomenon, though nobody knows as yet why it develops. However, as a rule they do not hang over that corner of the continent for more than a few days, whereas this one has been an affair of weeks.

The present flood situation differs from that of 1936 in one important respect. Then, one single tremendous storm, deluging the upper watersheds of the rivers with downpours of as much as six inches within twenty-four hours, did all the mischief at once. The present situation has arisen from a whole procession of lesser storm areas, none of which has brought more than an inch, but all cumulating into a terrific aggregate of water.

Thought For the Future

THE REVELATION THAT A group of Spanish government officials has taken steps to protect during the civil war many of the country's greatest art treasures is one of the few cheering news items to come from Madrid for some time. It will be applauded throughout the world.

Next to its toll in human life, one of the most grievous costs of war lies in the destruction of great masterpieces passed on by a former generation. Ravaged lands and buildings can be restored, but a masterpiece that has been destroyed is gone forever.

Saving these precious heritages for posterity is a splendid work; an achievement that would be excelled only by one which would end the fratricidal war that is leaving a blot on the pages of Spanish history.

Drivers' Nemesis

A DISPATCH FROM NEW YORK City seems to carry a moral of some kind for thoughtless drivers.

As the traffic light turned on a busy corner, a frail old woman started to cross the street with a crowd. A big car brusquely nosed its way around the corner. While others scattered out of the way, the old woman stood still, seemingly incapable of movement.

Just as the car seemed about to hit her, a silk-hatted man, with a cane, limped quickly to her side and swung her out of harm's way. At the same moment there was a sharp report, and the tire of the car went flat.

Talking to a nearby policeman, a few minutes later, a reporter learned that a similar incident had been happening nearly every morning, and that the silk-hatted man figured in each of them.

Following up the story, the reporter learned that the man was a former diplomat, whose foot had once been crushed by an automobile; and that it was not a cane he carried, but a sword stick.

The forgotten pedestrian, who has to leap out of the way of imperious drivers, may be glad to know he has an avenger.

Notes

A Norfolk man is 102 years old and has never had a doctor. He must be tired of eating apples.

It is revealed in the east that "some of the surrealistic art exhibits are the work of insane persons." Why "some?"

"The Japanese dragon has three toes, the Chinese dragon five." Which is strange, as it is the latter which always are stepped on.

At twenty a man says: "People are wiser than they used to be." At sixty he says: "People aren't so wise as they were when I was young."

There are many of us who are beginning to feel with Miss Maude Royden, D.D., the London preacher, that "if we could put a wall around Europe, we could have a ready-made lunatic asylum."

An interesting phenomenon that almost invariably marks the debut of new inventions has again made its appearance. Television engineers report that certain people are complaining that the invention has become a menace. Most of the complainants are women, who believe that someone is spying on them via television, or trying to take away an inheritance. Engineers recall that the phonograph, telephone, radio, and other inventions, in their early days, bothered people in the same way. Apparently science advances so rapidly that some human beings find it hard to keep abreast of it.

IN LINE

IN THE British Parliament they are going to pass a bill legalizing the queue. Under this bill, if a queue of people forms up before a door or ticket in a public place, everybody must take his turn; stand in line. First-come-first-served will cease to be a matter of courtesy and good manners and will become a stern principle of law like the rule of the road and the statutes against stealing.

A civilization is getting pretty thoroughly organized, ruled and regimented when it prescribes how you shall buy a ticket at a railway station or a theatre. Conservatives and Socialists may well consider this new queue statute as a perfect example of the modern state and they will like it or reprobate it according to their peculiar philosophies. Here, in fact, in this small matter, is the essence of the whole controversy.

On the one hand, the Socialist may well argue that the new law enforcing queues merely confirms a custom already established. But the Conservative will reply that if it is necessary to force people to do the ordinarily decent thing by law, if they won't do it of their own accord, they are not yet ready for the planned economy and the modern state.

The theory of socialism is that, with proper laws, you can make people live in a reasonable way—make them stand in queues. The theory of conservatism (as distinguished from the party label, of course) is that you must first educate your people up to the point where they will stand in queues without compulsion and then no state regulation will be necessary.

The trouble faced by the Socialists is that people obviously are not ready yet, even with legal compulsion, to stand in queues—not in the larger sense, not in the sense of sharing their incomes and giving the other fellow a reasonable chance in life. The trouble with the conservative plan is that if we have to wait much longer for people to stand in line of their own accord the whole system, our entire civilization, will have gone to the dogs in war and depression before the day of deliverance arrives. You take your choice between these alternatives.

At the moment we are definitely going in for queues, enforced by law. The question still unsettled is whether we shall learn to like and make it work. Despite all the present shouting no one knows the answer.

HELL

MADAME SECRETARY PERKINS, head of the labor department of the United States, has just set an important precedent, designed to have vital effect on the habits of speech in this country. Publicly, in an interview with the press, she has used the expression, "giving them hell."

It is true that she denied giving the heads of General Motors hell, but we need not go into the merits of the labor dispute further here. The important thing is that a cabinet officer of the United States, and a lady, has made the expression respectable and official. From now on it will be quite all right for any respectable lady to give people hell and to talk about it in just those words. You will reply, of course, that most ladies do it already. Now they can do it without wondering whether the neighbors are listening.

Our language has been growing more liberal in these matters for some time. It is only recently, for example, that it was considered respectable to use the innocent word, "damn," in conversation. In writing and on the screen, now damn drip from the purest feminine lips, and no one is worried in the least.

But the liberalization of the language hasn't caught up to our social habits for, while it is now respectable to damn and to give them hell, the purest feminine lips are dripping much stronger words which I do not dare to quote here. You can trust the girls to keep two steps ahead of the conventions and when the conventions have caught up to their present speech they will think of something new and still more shocking. We shall grow quite used to it in time. If you are appalled at the way things are going on, you are just getting old, that's all.

THE ROWBOAT

A WHILE AGO in an important utterance, I said that things were not standing still in the United States, now that the depression was over and everybody abundantly prosperous; that the forces unleashed by the New Deal would not be put back in their kennels like dogs; that the battle for a different society would go on despite all this talk about the return of normal conditions. Most of my friends told me they didn't understand what I meant, if anything.

In the United States now strikers have invaded huge automobile factories, taken possession of private property by trespass and are staying there. When the owners of the property refuse to negotiate with these trespassers, first the Secretary of Labor and then the President, publicly denounce the owners. This, in a small way, is the kind of thing I meant, but it is getting along faster than seemed probable then.

Bless you, my poor friend, there will be no return to normal in your lifetime and you had better make up your mind to it. The abnormal will be the normal for the next half century or so. Those who think that we here can enjoy a kind of permanent fool's paradise while everyone else in the world is in a jam are the kind of fools that I am talking about. I have shown Uncle Sam and John Bull at one end of a rowboat with the other nations of the world at the other. Messrs. Sam and Bull were congratulating themselves that the boat wasn't leaking at their end. We're all in this boat but we haven't realized it yet.

STREET SCENE

ON DOUGLAS STREET TODAY, the balmy north wind, warmed, as we always explain to visitors, by the Japan Current, blew the hat from a bald-headed gentleman, who rushed after it from Yates Street to Johnson Street. Everybody on Douglas Street seemed to pause and watch the pursuit with a kind of savage delight. Everybody smiled. A number tittered and some young ladies laughed outright.

This is an interesting phase of human nature. Why is it that people always laugh at a fellow human in pursuit of his hat? Why is it that the misfortune of someone else always appears to us so humorous? Why is it that, in this accurate little test of our character, we all turn out to be heartless wretches?

The late Mr. Gilbert Chesterton could write a whole article on a man losing his hat, and weave into it an entire philosophy of politics, humor, economics, religion and life generally. He could make a man losing his hat seem to be the most significant thing in the world. To me it is only a man losing his hat and a lot of Victorians gloating over him with fiendish glee. Even then it is a mystery why such a minor spectacle can strip off the veneer of civilization and Christianity in a trice and expose the horrid monster beneath.

PURSE-SNATCHERS' WORK

To the Editor:—Yesterday evening I picked up a purse on Broad Street. Upon reaching home I examined it and found it to contain documents of value only to the owner. On one of these documents was the owner's name and address. I returned the purse to its rightful owner—who was not over-pleased—and was informed by her that the purse had contained a sum of money. Evidently the purse had been found, rifled and then tossed away. It is not my affair, but I hope that the person who committed this despicable trick at the expense of a poor woman may live to regret it. At least, they might have the decency to return it.

A GIRL REPLIES

To the Editor:—I do not know if you will put a letter from a girl in your newspaper, but I am interested in your letters. Dad, who has done his "bit" for Canada, thinks some of these letters by Canadians are "silly bunk."

He said: "If you like to answer them 'Babe,' you can, as we have been 150 years in Canada, and are of Empire Loyalist stock."

What has "Canadian" done for Canada?

What color is he, white, yellow or black? Who is he afraid of his name? Who made Canada what it is?

My father says these letters are so caty they must be written by girls.

SUSPECTS MENTAL ABERRATION

To the Editor:—After reading the choleraic effusion of your correspondent "Canadian," one is almost driven to the conclusion that inoculation with the virus of Anglophobia is the sine qua non of membership in the Canadian family. Spent outbursts, like that of "Canadian," directed against Englishmen and the British Empire, suggest the existence in Canada of a peculiar type of mental aberration which might form an interesting subject for mental research.

To be sure of Canada's future it is to be hoped that there are few of her sons whose chief aim in life appears to be the aspiduous cultivation of a childish hatred towards the natives of another land. J.W.

JUPITER AND THE MOON

To the Editor:—A few days ago The Province news man announced over the radio that "Jupiter and the moon had a little flirtation last night."

Just think of such luscious miles further out in the sky than our moon; so, it could not be of a very serious nature.

It might be that Jupiter, which is over 82,000 miles in diameter and has nine moons was taking a squint at our earth, (8,000 miles in diameter) with only one moon.

It would appear as a faint star to Jupiter, but if our moon is on its regular route got-in-the-way, Jupiter may have told him to "step on it and be careful and don't get lost as he had no moons to spare."

I suppose the "man in our moon" would know what Jupiter said.

MEN OF CANADIAN SCOTTISH SHOULD GO

To the Editor:—If Canada only send a few picked men to the Coronation in London in May, from the permanent and non-permanent forces, I do not think it will be fair to these men who have devoted their time to training year in and year out, for nothing. There must be many keen and worthy youths in the Canadian Scottish, who should be given the "chance of a lifetime," to say nothing of officers and N.C.O.s and men who have served overseas and since then have devoted their time and knowledge unthinkingly to training "the young idea" to be a good citizen and soldier. Surely these should not be forgotten.

Being, as I have stated before, a battalion that perpetuates one of the finest traditions of the C.E.F. that ever went overseas, together with having the honor of being really and truly "Royal," because of its Royal Colonel-in-Chief, what greater claim has any regiment in Canada than the Canadian Scottish Regiment to be well and strongly represented at the Coronation of His Most Gracious Majesty King George VI?

"PRO BONO PUBLICO."

Modern Etiquette

Q. At what age should a child be introduced to guests?
A. There is no particular age, but it should be done while the child is young, so he will possess a natural social ease as he matures.

Q. When a man calls at a hotel to see someone, is it necessary for him to present his card to the clerk?
A. No; his name is sufficient.

Q. When traveling on a steamer, to whom should one go to have any valuables taken care of?
A. The purser.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "He located near Los Angeles."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "curtail"?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Psychology, pyorrhea, psymmore.

4. What does the word "ante mortem" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with "impudent" that means "impudent"?
Answers
1. Say, "He settled near Los Angeles." 2. Accent last syllable, not the first. 3. Psychology. 4. Before death; generally used adjectively "It was an ante mortem statement." 5. Insolent.

Church Honors Long Service

Mrs. C. C. Spofford Made Life Deacon After 60 Years With First Baptist Church

In recognition of sixty years of unbroken service at First Baptist Church, Mrs. C. C. Spofford at the annual meeting Wednesday evening, was elected a life deacon. In speaking of Mrs. Spofford's long connection with the church, Angus Galbraith, another long-time member, enumerated many of the offices which she had filled, from cleaning the building to occupying its pulpit.

The congregation met in its own building for the first time in many years, and in consequence the dominant note of the gathering was one of hope and optimism for the future. In presenting the record of the year's activities, the clerk, Dan Pearson, reported additions to membership by letter, experience and baptism. He referred to the church's sixtieth anniversary. The minister, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, had served the institution for seven years, a service which Mr. Pearson, speaking on behalf of the board, hoped would for many years continue. He referred to the purchase of the church building, and urged that it be the place for the community all members must realize their responsibilities, taking a broader outlook toward the application of Christian principles to the many-sided problems of the day. The treasurer, G. A. Stevens, presented a balanced financial report, and stated that all payment due to date on the building purchase had been met.

For the Women's Union, the treasurer, Mrs. K. Bidout, reported that this auxiliary, in addition to $300 subscribed to missions, and many other charitable contributions, had during the year assisted the church building fund to the extent of $3,250. In all of its many other activities the Women's Union reported a successful season.

The Sunday School passes into another year with slightly increased membership. Owing to the resignation of Walter Mann, the appointment of W. N. Finlay as superintendent was approved.

Similarly encouraging reports were received from the Tuckabatchee Club, the Second Life Club, the C.G.T., the Home Study Club, and other auxiliaries. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Clerk, Wilfred Smith, assistant, clerk, Miss Agnes Flitton; treasurer, G. A. Stevens; missionary treasurer, Angus Galbraith; envelope steward, A. E. Taylor; deacons, life deacon, Mrs. C. Spofford, Angus Galbraith, J. H. Tabor, W. N. Finlay, W. Wain, Jos. Turner, J. E. Hamilton and Captain J. C. Foot; trustees, H. Whitaker, E. Stevens, J. Dinmore, D. Pearson, G. Johnson, Wilfred Smith, Major S. Hensen and Mrs. Angus Galbraith and Mrs. W. C. Bradshaw. The meeting was preceded by a banquet, Mr. Reynolds presiding at both functions.

College Students to Be Hosts at International Relations Conclave

Between eighty and 100 students from universities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia will arrive in Victoria, March 12, for a two-day conference of the International Relations Society, with students of Victoria College as their hosts. In the International Relations Club has been one of the strongest organizations of Victoria College for several years, and during the last two years has sent delegates to conferences in Moscow, Idaho and Pullman, Washington.

The club exists for the discussion of international economic and social relations, and several meetings are held each term, at which students or guest lecturers speak on world affairs and engage in informal debate. Neil Swainson, is president of the Victoria College branch of the International Relations Society, which has ramifications throughout the whole of the United States and part of Canada, and Miss Kay Riley is secretary. Delegates to the conference here will hold meetings March 12 and 13, a banquet and dance on the evening of March 12, and will probably go on a sight-seeing tour on the afternoon of March 13.

Miss Amy Hemmaway Jones, supervisor of the society, will be among the officials present.

HONOR YOUNG SEED GROWERS

Prizes Awarded and Competitors Entertained at Rotary Luncheon

Young competitors in the Rotary Club's annual seed-growing contest came into town from their homes in various parts of the Saanich peninsula yesterday to receive cups and cash prizes for their efforts and to be entertained by the clubmen at luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

The average of points scored by the contestants this year was the highest since the competition was started.

First prize went to Byron Ball of Sidney, with a score of 96.62 per cent. With the prize went also the cup presented by Mrs. R. P. Butchart.

Donald Vantreigh, Royal Oak, was second with 93.77 per cent, and Myrtle Sluggert, West Saanich, third with 92.92 per cent.

The Rotary Club cup for the school with the highest total marks was awarded to Keating School, instructed by Miss G. McNab.

WINS SPECIAL CUP

Campbell Warder of Sidney, who for five years has headed the competition and who is now in a class by himself, was awarded a special trophy for his score of 98.30 per cent.

The following pupils received prizes as the scorers of the highest points in their schools: Laura Young, Keating School; Margaret Roberts, Prospect Lake School; and Gordon White, Saanichton School.

Certificates for marks in excess of 70 per cent were presented to Maude Hanneuse, Keating; Thelma Olson, Sidney; Maurice Mitchell, Keating; Barbara Hayercroft, Sidney; Peter Roberts, Prospect Lake; Charles Cruse, Keating; Alan Duval, Prospect Lake; Billy Brander, Royal Oak; Percy Boorman, Royal Oak; Phyllis Skinner, Sidney; and David Burr, West Saanich.

The presentations were made by J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who congratulated the winners on their high scores, and urged them to keep on with the work. Mr. Munro was introduced by Neil Lamont, chairman of the Rotary Club's agricultural committee.

G. A. Robertson, Elk Lake seed grower, in a brief address congratulated the club on its sponsorship of the competition and on the encouragement it had given to the boys and girls.

Some of the boys who had taken part in the contest in past years, he said, were now doing successfully in the seed-growing business, and there were others who could shortly follow their example.

The samples of seeds shown here are as fine as could be seen anywhere," he said, and went on to add that British Columbia had the repu-

NEED CLEANING PLANT

The boys and girls were further to be congratulated because of the limited facilities which they had at hand for their work. Especially lacking was proper cleaning apparatus. He suggested that a central seed-cleaning plant be established at one of the Saanich schools for the young growers.

British Columbia, with a climate suited to the raising of all varieties of vegetable and flower seeds, could easily supply the whole of Canada, he said, although at present the greater part of its seed crop was exported.

Mr. Robertson expressed the belief that the market for seeds would be broader during the present year, and that prices would be higher.

The young seed-growers and the club members were entertained with a variety of sleight-of-hand tricks by William Harkness. Most appropriate among the acts was one in which he grew a great rose bush from a "magic seed."

Frank I. Doherty, president of the club, was in the chair.

LANGFORD

Mrs. Cyril Wilkinson who with her little daughter Carol has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson have left to stay with Mrs. Wilkinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden, at Ladysmith.

Mrs. R. M. Hoggie is staying in Victoria at 2111 Ida Street.

The members of the Langford and Colwood A.Y.P.A. will meet this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Stevenson, Island Highway.

Through their habit of picking up lighted cigarette stubs, English sparrows create a serious fire hazard.

AID SAANICH TO COLLECT BILLS

A convenient arrangement for payment of water bills by Saanich consumers has been effected by the municipality through the co-operation of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Under the new arrangement Saanich residents who may be shopping in the city may pay their water bills at the Hudson's Bay store and be saved the necessity of either going to Royal Oak to make payment or sending money orders. The company will handle up to 1,000 payments a month.

The proposal for the new arrangement was made by Councillor L. H. Passmore, Ward Seven, who said many consumers had expressed a wish for a convenient place of payment as many times they missed the collector when he called and forgot to make payment by mail before the date on which the discount could be secured.

As most of them in the water area visit the city regularly the new service will mean a great convenience to them.

The council expressed its appreciation of the company's willingness to co-operate in this matter.

Problems of Britain Aired

Vernon McKenzie Tells Women Of Re-armament

"The most significant event in 1936 was Great Britain's decision to re-arm," declared Dr. Vernon McKenzie, director of the school of Journalism at the University of Washington, Seattle, in an address before the Women's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Dr. McKenzie was speaking on the subject "Some Problems Facing Great Britain." Mrs. S. J. Willis, president of the club, was in the chair. Before 1936 Great Britain had carried its belief in disarmament almost too far, he said. From 1922 to 1936 not a capital ship had been laid down. But after the Ethiopian debacle, the British realized that in a world gone mad, they would have to arm.

The normal strength of the British army was 125,000 men, Dr. McKenzie said. Half of this force, however, was always abroad. The territorial forces were below strength and numbered only 165,000.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

Canadians had a special aptitude for flying, the speaker said and noted that hundreds of young Canadians had gone over to Great Britain to enlist in the air force. Many of these were now stranded in London.

Great Britain was vulnerable to attack from the air, but Dr. McKenzie said that her anti-aircraft defense would not be efficient for at least six months. The ground glass for anti-aircraft guns, which were almost human in their electrical control, required special technicians who had all been disbanded at the end of the war.

As far as the air was concerned the problem which faced every country except Russia was the men not the planes. Dr. McKenzie said it was relatively simple to manufacture airplanes and the speaker estimated that Great Britain had about 3,000 front line planes, Germany 10,000, Russia 7,000 and France 3,500 but some of these countries lacked pilots.

SECRET DIPLOMACY

From armament, Dr. McKenzie turned to diplomacy. Five or six years ago the open diplomacy of Geneva collapsed and secret diplomacy became the order of the day.

"Don't believe you have seen the whole truth when you read about treaties now a days," he warned. "Treaties are like icebergs. Only about a ninth of them are on the surface."

The increasing desire of the people of the United States for strict neutrality was one of the problems facing Great Britain. In its intention to keep out of a war at any cost Dr. McKenzie saw the United States reversing the freedom of the seas for neutral boats. He believed the new legislation which would go before Congress shortly was of such a nature that it would build a sort of Chinese wall around the United States, and make the country self-supporting. In this connection he pointed out that there were only two economic units in the world—the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Spain was probably the most urgent problem which the British had, Dr. McKenzie said. There were over 70,000 foreigners fighting on both sides in the civil war.

"You notice a pause in the frenzy of negotiations over the Spanish conflict during the last two weeks," Dr. McKenzie said. "Well, my theory is that Hitler and his associates are going a lot of deep thinking about how much they can squeeze out of England and France without forcing a show-down."

Germany was in a desperate economic condition, he said. Virtually nothing could be thrown into the garbage can by the housewife. She had almost no gold reserve. In fact the only spot cash payment she had made was to Canada for 6,300 tons of nickel in 1935.

Dr. McKenzie listed Germany's probable demands as:

1. A large loan.
2. Tariff reductions.
3. Return of mandated colonies.
4. Great Britain and Italy had signed a Mediterranean pact which the speaker was inclined to think was a gentlemen's agreement. The interesting question of the future of the Balearic Islands was not brought out in the pact.

Noting that "if looked at logically Great Britain had not got much reason for existing because she was the opposite of a self-contained economic unit," he listed the reasons for her existing as follows:

1. Sanitary through centuries of political experience.
2. The trade-union congress which was a factor for stability.
3. The amazing British spirit of compromise which was known on the continent as "muddling."
4. The British navy.
5. The Bank of England which closely co-operated with political forces in control.
6. The importance of unimportant things such as sports.
7. Hyde Park which was a political safety valve.

Mrs. S. J. Willis presided at the gathering and Mrs. P. B. Bourne expressed the thanks of the gathering to the speaker. The soloists were Mrs. Sidney Sherratt, who contributed a charming group of songs, accompanied by Miss Moore at the piano.

Many Borrowed "Tails" at Party

Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 29.—Rejoicing swept the ranks of the United States capital's dress-suit-renting corps today. It had met to a shirt stud the sartorial challenge of the seventy-fifth Congress.

Shops were knee deep in wrinkled trousers, knotted vests and twisted ties as borrowed finery was returned after President Roosevelt's congressional reception yesterday evening.

Seven concerns participated in the mass dressing of legislators who either do not own dress suits or prefer rented models.

Prices for last night's reconnoitre into the social ranks ranged from $1.75 for a simple set of tails and trousers to as high as $6 for an outfit that smacked of opera night in old Vienna.

It was hard to get a consensus on the most popular congressional suit size. One proprietor put it this way: "A sort of 40-34-30."

Founder's Day to be Marked

Members of the I.O.E. in Victoria will celebrate Founder's Day on February 15, instead of February 13, in order not to conflict with other functions. It was decided at the meeting of the Municipal Chapter yesterday afternoon. The occasion will be marked by a tea at the headquarters, with the Municipal executive acting as hostesses, and Mrs. P. E. Corby, provincial organizing secretary, will speak on the aims and objects of the order.

At the opening of the meeting, Mrs. Wm. Ellis, the regent, who presided, made fitting reference to King George the Sixth and to the Duke of Windsor. Sympathy was also expressed with the sufferers in the flood areas in the United States.

It was reported that clothing had been sent to the Peace River district. Mrs. Ellis announced that radio talks were now available for use of primary chapters. Mrs. Curtis Sampson, suggested that the order be prepared to take active part in any coronation celebrations in Victoria.

The treasurer's report was received and the sum of $25 was voted to the Mary Croft cot in the Solarium from the Alexandra Rose Day Fund.

In the educational report a request was made for annual reports from primary chapters. Mrs. Beckett spoke of the inter-correspondence of school children, overseas.

The organizing secretary, Mrs. A. H. C. Phillips, reported the presentation of a flag to the Royal Oak Troup of Boy Scouts. Mrs. George Miles told of several families having received assistance from the child welfare committee.

Mrs. B. Shanks reported the receipt of an additional $4 for work in India. Mrs. B. Shanks Jr. gave an account of the Royal Bridge Chapter concert. According to Mrs. Ellis's report, two Sea Scouts had been sent to England. Mrs. Plumb made a plea for additional donations for the soldiers' graves and ex-service men.

All chapters which have not already done so, were asked to send their nomination papers for national and provincial councilors to the Municipal secretary, Mrs. C. W. Wilson, immediately, as the report must be in the hands of the Provincial Chapter by February 1.

"Pep" Supper At Y.W.C.A.

Success

About 150 Girls Enjoyed Comic Programme

The recreational rooms of the Y.W.C.A. were converted into a gay dining hall last evening when between 125 and 150 girls attended the second annual "Pep Club" supper. Each group in the girls' department sat at separate tables which were prettily decorated with pink, yellow and mauve candles.

Miss Edna Teagle the council president, presided. She welcomed the girls and introduced Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, president of the board of directors; Mrs. Richard Felton, girls' committee convener, and Miss Betty Copeland, who led the girls in a lively sing-song during the supper hour.

The supper period was interspersed with the various club songs. Some of these were highly amusing, others showed real talent in harmony. "She Floats Through the Y With the Greatest of Ease," the Y song, was sung with vigor, Miss Jessie Jones accompanying at the piano.

COCKNEY COMEDY

The programme was varied, with a comic motif running through it. The Dramatic Club presented a Cockney comedy entitled, "From Soup to Nuts." The entire scene was laid in the home of a wealthy Englishman, while the kitchen maid, Emily, the cook, Marie, and the parlor maid, Ada, prepare and serve the meal. Emily has "borrowed" some of her mistress' love letters and tries to pass them off as her own. Her secret is discovered, but in the meantime they have ruined the meal and have to content themselves with salted beef. The characters were well taken, especially the part of Emily, by Bobet Cave.

The rest of the programme was of a more informal nature of stunts and skills. The Pirate Club acted the ever-popular "mellodrama," while the business girls lost themselves in a Wild West show called "The Supreme Sacrifice." The Y-Owenca's gave their ziti in "The Fatal Quest."

The swimming stunt was a shadow play which was greeted with laughter and applause. The gym department went through many queer stunts in "The Act of the Ambly Antipodes," while the Badminton Club created quite a noise with their "Badminton Hackney."

The Versatiles ended the programme.

Fascinating Cottons Worn At Style Show

Over 300 Women See Wabasso Products Demonstrated at Hudson's Bay Dining-room; Bridal Party Feature

The line, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" was brought to mind yesterday afternoon when, while icy winds blew outside the windows, a gathering of 300 women in the Victorian restaurant of the Hudson's Bay Company watched a succession of mannequins display summer frocks and beach wear fashioned of fascinating prints and other cotton materials.

The occasion was the demonstration of the products of the Wabasso Cotton Mills of Three Rivers, Quebec. The loveliness of the colors and the modernity of the designs showed how far the once lowly print has advanced since the days of our grandmothers. Today, evening frocks and bridal gowns boast of cotton origin and, as the demonstrator pointed out, have the advantage of being "bubbable" many times over without losing their pristine freshness and color.

Acting as models were the Misses Lillian Michaels, Lilian Leask, Janet Sturrock, Alma Carey, and little June Day, Lorraine Stocker, Maureen Bray and Master Teddy Rattenbury.

BRIDE IN VOILE

The bridal procession, which came as the grand finale to the style parade, showed a charming bride in a graceful gown of pure white voile of a fineness comparable to georgette. It was fashioned with the high neckline, the waist buttoned down the back, the slim-fitting skirt flaring below the knees, and was worn with a veil of snowy net.

The bridal attendants included two bridesmaids in frocks of steel-blue voile, the dearest frocks finished at the hem with a narrow pleated frill, and a sash of yellow at the waist. They wore caplets of the blue voile, edged with pleated frills and fastened with primrose-yellow ribbon streamers, while their demure Puritan hats were of blue, with yellow streamers. The little flower girl wore a Kate Greenway frock of primrose-yellow voile with a blue sash, and wore a wreath of vari-colored organdie flowers in her hair. Like the bridesmaids she carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed organdie flowers.

SUMMER EVENING GOWNS
Adorable evening frocks were shown in the lovely printed piques. One, worn by Miss Michaels, was of delectable blue patterned pique with square decolletage and exaggerated puff sleeves caught in the centre with a yellow organdie flower, the slim frock buttoned down the back, the skirt flaring gracefully from the hips. Another lovely frock for the summer dinner party and dance was of pique patterned in tiny flowers of burgundy, wine and blue shades, with which the model wore a charming evening cloak of rose beach cloth with a hood or "snood" to cover the hair and frame a pretty face.

The new "twin" dresses were worn by two of the mannequins, one in a sleeveless frock of printed pique in the new broken-box design, with a tiny Eton coat of white finished with long sleeves, while the other modelled a smart white tailored frock of linene with the little coat of the printed material.

PLUS-FOURS FORECAST

Printed pique also fashioned a charming and utilitarian beach outfit consisting of shorts, with an abbreviated detachable skirt and cape of the material lined with plain white, and, over all, a tailored finger-tip cape of white broadcloth.

The new culotte frock was also shown in a dainty printed material, and the lecturer aroused a gasp from the audience when she prophesied that women would be wearing plus-fours of the cotton materials for cycling and hiking wear this coming summer.

Artistic smocks, decorated in original manner with colored bias tape and rickrack trims, and fascinating negligees and lingeries, especially suitable for the college girl, were among the many other delightful fashions shown.

FOR CHILDREN'S WEAR

Dainty frocks and coats for party and play wear, worn by the little girls, and "Buster Brown" suits and pyjamas worn by the very small boy, exemplified the particular suitability of the Wabasso materials for children's wear.

The gathering also found much to admire in the attractive bedspreads, sheets, pillow coverings, for both day and night use, gardening aprons, baby cot covers, bags and similar articles made out of the colorful, modern prints and displayed on the stage by the lecturer, Mrs. M. C. Ballindall.

All of the styles shown were fashioned from Butterick patterns, and Mrs. Ballindall will be at the store today and tomorrow to answer any questions concerning them.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

WISEST PROCEDURE IS TO BOIL BABE'S MILK

The old bugaboo which persists that a "boiled milk is constipating," is enough to prevent some mothers from following directions to boil the baby's milk. As the milk in our daily milk bottles comes from increasing distances, goes through innumerable hands and is subjected to unpredictable treatment, it becomes ever more necessary to protect ourselves from the results of such handling by insisting that milk for infants and children be boiled.

Dr. Claude Heston, in "Modern Motherhood," has this to say about why milk is boiled. "To be safe for your baby, cow's milk should always be boiled before using. This applies to pasteurized as well as raw milk certified or not. Boiling kills disease-producing bacteria, assuring freedom from infection. Boiling also increases the digestibility of milk. The curds formed in the baby's stomach, from boiled milk are soft and small. Boiling the milk increases constipation, but this disadvantage is outweighed by the safety of boiling. The best way to boil milk is in a double boiler. Have the water boiling in the lower compartment and add the top compartment containing the milk and boil for eight minutes. Another method is to boil the milk from three to five minutes over the open flame."

Mrs. A. H. asks the question, whether boiled milk is more constipating than evaporated milk? There would be only one way to test this individually and that would be to try them on the baby. There is no certainty at all that either boiled or evaporated milk will be constipating. And this reaction can be easily overcome by the inclusion of fresh fruit juices in the diet, these fresh elements being essential in any diet containing a boiled or evaporated or any kind of processed milk.

The leaflet on "Reasons for Constipation" is suggested for those who are attempting to correct baby's diet so as to improve or eliminate this condition. Send a self-addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope with your request for the leaflet by name to Myrtle Meyer Eldrid of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: Child should set independently of parents' help.

Your Last Chance to Get a Fur Coat at These Low Prices

Fur Prices in B.C. Increase

Varying increases in the price of raw furs in British Columbia indicate the industry is to be in excellent condition and approaching the peak year of 1936, according to A. E. Alexandor, local furrier who returned today from a purchasing trip up the coast of the province.

"Whenever you see prices on a commodity like furs jumping up you can be sure prosperous conditions are on the way," said Mr. Alexandor, commenting on the general rise.

Prices on raw mink furs have jumped from between $5 and $7 each to $15 and $22 each. Mr. Alexandor said. Amounts ranging from $15 to $35 are being paid for marten furs that last year were purchased for from $5 to $10. Rabbit skins have risen from 11 cents to about 35 cents each, while raccoon and muskrat pelts have jumped from $3 to $7 and $5 cents to $1.75 respectively.

Braved Jungle In Search of Insects

Woman Scientist Sent 230,000 To British Museum

After spending ten months in the fever-infested jungles of Dutch New Guinea with natives as her only companions, Miss L. E. Cheesman, a prominent London scientist, returned to England recently.

From Dutch New Guinea she sent 265,000 insects to the British Museum. Tall and grey-haired, Miss Cheesman, whose age is fifty-four, described to a London reporter her experiences during her exploration of New Guinea for rare specimens of reptile, fish and insects.

"During the ten months I have spent out there I have collected sufficient material to keep the British Museum authorities busy for the next twenty years," she said.

When asked if she was not troubled by insects, she replied: "What troubled me more was that my native bearers and carriers had heard that there was a head-hunter in the district. We were some miles from civilization, and they left me. I just had to set to and carry the absolutely necessary equipment, myself."

"I was not afraid of the head-hunter. In fact, I did not even think about him. I was too absorbed in my work."

When in the jungle, Miss Cheesman dresses in a khaki service-cloth suit over which she wears an overall of similar material.

"I wear hockey boots on my feet because they grip better," she added.

DeFoe based his story, "Robinson Crusoe," largely on the experience of Alexander Selkirk, a castaway.

The party organization let it be known its candidate must be young, married, and have had some political experience. Harvie-Watt fills all these requirements.

King without a country

by Robert Bruce
© N.E.A. Service Inc.
1937

An expensive orchestra from Paris played the song hit of the year, "I'd Give Up My Throne for You." Japanese lanterns festooned the wide grounds of the Villa San Margarete.

It seemed to Paul as if the entire population of the villa along the shore of Bay St. Francis must be there. All the friends and acquaintances of whom he had seen so much during the last year had passed down the receiving line; in addition there were people he had never seen before, friends of his friends and acquaintances of his acquaintances. Ardath and the Countess di Marco had made up the list of guests; it looked, he decided gloomily, as if they had simply taken the postman's summer directory and copied off the names verbatim.

Paul turned away and walked outside the circle of light and sound to a secluded spot among the shrubbery that fringed the farther end of the villa. The monotonous jungle beat of the saxophones and its muted trumpets, the laughter and the bursts of applause and the shrill voices came to him faintly here. He could look away from the lighted lawn, with its color and its movement, and see the dark bay under its canopy of stars.

As he looked, it seemed as if he looked across the shadowing of years, as well as across the water, and saw his own kingdom again, fair under the summer sky, with its bustling cities, its neat and smiling countryside, its great myriad of people weaving the unending pattern of their history.

And it seemed that he could see the long procession of his predecessors, the kings who had reigned before him, passing in ghostly review.

And all of them, it seemed, had this in common—that they served a greater thing than themselves, sometimes knowingly, sometimes falteringly and uncertainly, but always instinctively and, in the end, faithfully. They had found their freedom in service, and they stood out now, not so much as individuals but as figures in an unbroken procession, as men who marched in time to the beat of some drum that could summon men to transcend themselves.

He rubbed his forehead wearily. He had broken that procession, he had stepped out of it—for love, for freedom, for the need to fulfill some obscure responsibility to his own soul. Now he could see that he had made an impossible bargain—that freedom was a queer, mocking thing which a man gained by turning away from it, that love could be insubstantial and shifting, with a light that failed and a glamour that deceived. And he was conscious of a tremendous homesickness for his own land and his own people; a great desire came to him to leave this silly, drunken revel, board his stout little sailboat, steer north around gulfs, Cape Horn, and set a course for his home land—returning, like some mariner-king of old, from a tour of far countries and strange places, to the place that was his.

He took a step forward, impulsively, as if to turn desire into action. Then he paused; a man and a woman, dimly outlined against the lights on the lawn, had strolled near him. They did not see him. They sat down on a bench a dozen paces away—Ardath and Reggie Van Twyne.

"Ardath, kid," he was saying, "how long are you going to carry this on anyhow?"

"I could pretend that I don't understand what you mean, Reggie, but I won't," she said. Her voice sounded flat and tired. "I won't even pretend that I'm shocked and insulted. But I can't give you an answer—not a real one. All I can say is, 'I don't know.'"

"Listen," said Reggie. In the dusk Paul could see him turn to face her; one arm looped over the back of the seat so that his hand rested lightly and familiarly on her shoulder.

"Listen, Ardath. You were cut out to be my sort of person, not his. You know that, don't you?"

There was a long silence.

"We're a shabby shabby pair," said Ardath at last. "You're right, in a way. I am your kind, not his. His kind is too good for me. He's innocent, Reggie. He's like a child—trusting, and good, and sort of lost."

"Reggie, I can't let him down. I'm all he's got. He gave up too much for me. As long as he wants me, I've got to be on hand."

"You think so," Reggie looked out at the dark bay for a full minute. Then he stood up, and extended a hand to help her to her feet. "Well," he said, "I'll be around. Sooner or later, you know, the bottom'll fall out of all this. You know that as well as I do. When it does, little Reggie'll be on deck."

They moved away, and left Paul alone.

Dawn was breaking, at last, when Paul finally went up to his dressing room.

There was a tap on his door, and Ardath came in. She wore a negligee over her night robe, and her face was anxious.

"There you are," she said. "Paul, where have you been? You worried me."

"I've been a long way off—a very long way," he said slowly. "So far that I could see us—as I never was able to see us before."

Her brow wrinkled with worry.

"Paul, dearest, what do you mean?"

"It's a funny country I went into," he mused. "A country where all the shams and pretenses fall away, and you see yourself—and other people—as you and they really are. It isn't really very pleasant, Ardath."

"I suppose," he went on, as if he were talking to himself, "that we aren't meant to do that. We aren't meant to see ourselves as we really are. We must have our illusions. We aren't strong enough to get along unless we wrap ourselves and our lives up in a little glamour. When we get to a place where the illusions dissolve and the glamour falls away, we don't have anything left."

He gave her a rueful smile.

"I saw that all the things we two had done together—the romance they had woven out of moonlight and laughter, the lovely dreams they had shared, the moments when they had helped each other stand above the stars and look off through infinite space at a flame that glowed far away in the sky—I saw that all of these things were only make-believe, things that the morning sun could dry up as it dries up the dew on the grass. And I saw that the path these two people followed, that was going to lead them to a miraculous land all their own where nothing could hurt them, was really going to take them to a dull and barren desert."

He stood up suddenly and walked across the room. He stretched his arms high, and a great cry burst from him.

"Ardath, Ardath, I have been a blind fool and I have lost my soul! I thought I could throw away responsibility and they haunt me and curse me! You can't get away from things, in this world—and I thought you could!"

She looked after him, with infinite pity and tenderness in her eyes. He calmed suddenly, and came back and stood before her.

"I'm going away," he said quietly. "Where?"

"Back to what I ran away from. Maybe I can get my feet on the ground if I can just see the country and the people again. Maybe—"

"But you can't!" she cried. "Paul, you can't go back. It's mad."

He took off his coat, went to the closet and took out a suitcase. Then he opened bureau drawers and began sorting out little piles of clothing.

Ardath looked at him resignedly.

"Are you coming back?" she asked, at last. He turned and came over to her, taking her face in his hands.

"My dear, I do not know. I'm going in quest of something, dear—something that I have to find. If I find it—"

The sloop Irene lay at the quay. The last of her provisions had been stowed. She was fully equipped and loaded for a long voyage—for a very long voyage, indeed, reflected Paul, for was he not setting his course for a quest of the spirit, which might lead to a landfall not marked on any chart?

He paid his bill and got aboard. A swarthy dock-loafers unfurnished his mooring lines and Paul coiled and stowed them, while the little sloop drifted slowly away from the quay. Then he started the auxiliary motor and the boat moved out into the bay.

Paul regained once more the feeling that he had in the first days of his exile—the feeling that freedom, that evanescent thing which men found only to lose, was his at last.

"I ought to know better than that," he said aloud. "There is no such thing as freedom; or, if there is, it's just the reverse of what we think it is. The surest way to lose it is to go hunting for it; the one way to find it is to forget all about it, to do the things you have to do with all there is in you, to forget yourself entirely and trust to luck that in the process of serving something higher than yourself freedom will come to you."

The harbor of Gallport is one of the least attractive places on all the coast of his homeland. The land is low, without hill or headland to break its monotonous sweep, and the town has but one export: coal. Its waterfront is dreary with black, smudgy docks, and its houses are grimy and despondent, looking sullenly out to sea as if they had long since ceased to expect from it anything but the worst.

But as the sloop Irene came about the little islets that lay in an offshore cluster, six miles out from the mouth of the harbor, and swung in for the tall lighthouse, Paul thought he had never seen a fairer prospect. This was his own land, at last—it was home. These were his people; to go about their streets, sit in their inns, chat with them casually, without to touch the earth again and regain his lost strength. He was coming home.

A customs launch chugged up. A dapper little officer came aboard to look at Paul's papers and glance about the boat. If he recognized the name, Paul Peronne, he gave no sign. In five minutes he had gone.

A huge motor car came down the nearest street and swung onto the wharf. It halted, and a uniformed military aide got out. He looked about for a moment, spied the sloop, and walked briskly over to it. Halting at the edge of the wharf, he clicked his heels and saluted.

"Sir," he said, "his majesty the king would like to talk with you. Will you come with me, please?"

Paul followed the aide to the motor car. The car drew up before a great nineteenth-century mansion house. The aide guided Paul in through a side entrance, and led him by some little-used back hall, apparently to a second floor apartment. A guard stood aside, and the aide tapped on the door. It opened, and the aide asked Paul to go in. Paul entered, and the door closed behind him.

Joseph was standing by a window, precisely as he had been the last time Paul saw him, in the royal lodge the night of the abdication. He came swiftly across the room and took Paul's hands in his, pressing them hard; for a long minute the brothers looked at each other without speaking.

Paul regained command of himself first.

"Well, your majesty," he said, smiling. "You see I did come back."

"You did come back," repeated Joseph unsteadily. He hesitated, and added: "To stay?"

"No, No, Joseph, not to stay. I am going away again, and this time I am going forever."

"Where are you going?" Paul shrugged.

"I don't know. Does it matter very much?"

"To me it matters very much indeed... Paul, why did you come back?"

Again Paul shrugged.

"To look for something I had lost, I suppose."

"Did you find it?"

Slowly, Paul shook his head. "No, it is beyond finding, by now. I shan't bother to look for it again."

"What was it?"

Paul smiled a one-sided smile.

"If I wanted to be tragic, I suppose I would say that it was my immortal soul. Not wanting to be tragic, I shall merely say that I wanted to touch my country again, to see just what it was that I lost by leaving it. I touched it, and I found out. That is all."

There was another silence. Joseph laid a hand on his brother's arm.

"Paul, can't you stay here?"

"No, Joseph. It wouldn't do. Can a king who was too small for his crown stay on beside a king who wears it as a crown is meant to be worn? Can a—"

"You were never too small for it! Paul, Paul, we were always closer than royal brothers usually are. There was never any jealousy between us, never any suspicion or envy or distrust. You were my idol when I was a boy. I loved you, looked up to you, wanted to pattern myself after you!"

Again Paul smiled sadly and shook his head. He took Joseph's hand from his arm and patted it gently before he released it.

"Joseph, we should know by this time that a king cannot ask for things for his own sake. He can't ask for love or comradeship or the easy, soothing little things that make life happy. He is on a pinnacle, and he is condemned to be lonely. It is his curse and his privilege."

"Kings in the old days had an easy job. All they had to do was govern. Nowadays a king cannot govern his country—he must inspire it. He must stand before it as the embodiment of the things it is to strive for, as the reminder of the dreams it is to dream. That is infinitely harder, and infinitely greater, than to govern."

Let's look at things honestly. I was given that task, but there was something soft in me, somewhere. I thought that I could be a man, with a man's homely little desires and weaknesses, when I was born to be a king. You will not make that mistake. You will go on, lonely and often very miserable in your high place, because you can see the things I did not see until too late—the chariot of fire that your poet Blake talked about, the new Jerusalem that has to be built among the stumps and the coal tips and the factory yards. And because you see those things, your people will move forward just a little nearer to the place where they can actually build that new Jerusalem."

He broke off, for his voice had suddenly become unsteady.

"I am beginning to talk in pretty flowery language, and that is always a sign that I have said all that I have to say," he said lightly. "Let's not be tragic. I go and you stay. I leave my love with you. You know that. Give me yours—and your royal blessing—and I will go."

Joseph started to speak. His voice broke, and he cried, "Oh, Paul!" and threw his arms about his older brother. Then, at last, he drew away and mastered himself.

"Goodby, Paul, and God bless you," he said.

Paul went to the door. He stopped suddenly. The jeweled sword and scabbard of some aide lay on a chair. He seized the sword, drew it out, flourished it, and performed the salute, hilt touching his thigh, blade pointing toward the ceiling. For a moment he stood there, rigid. Then he laughed, laid the sword down, waved his hand, and left. The aide showed him to the car, and he was driven back to the wharf.

The sloop Irene rounded the last headland and lay over before a stiff east wind. Paul trimmed the sheets and perched at the tiller, with never a glance over his shoulder for his native land, falling astern forever.

He was on his way—to what? Back to the old life on the Bay St. Francis, with Ardath and all that she offered him?

He looked at the horizon ahead and frowned. Ardath would comfort him; she would show him how absurd it was to cry over something that had been irrevocably lost. She would even wind up by persuading him that what had been lost had been well lost. He would grow old there, with her, without a visible care in the world. In the end, probably, he would cease to rebel against the emptiness, the meaninglessness, of the routine of the gay coast of pleasure. He would conform, at last, and be just one more of that coast's idlers.

If not back to Ardath, what then? Well, there was Guatemala, where his old friend and tutor, Dr. Sonders, delved in the ruins of a lost world and buried cities of kings who had lived and died and been forgotten. Dr. Sonders had asked him to come and help him; that would be work, a life in which a man might take pride.

Or—and he smiled to think of it—there was the town of Camden, Maine, with lanky Jones Coffin looking for capital to set a fleet of barkentines moving along the old Maine coast. He could go there, supply Coffin with his capital, and help the world do its work and move its goods. Or he could go farther, if he chose, to the western plains, and start the cattle ranch he used to dream of.

Guatemala, Maine and the western plains lay beyond the Atlantic; but the Irene was staunch and well-provisioned; she would take him there, if he wanted to go. And if she did not—did that really matter so much? Back to the Bay St. Francis, Ardath, and a life that would slowly smother his discontent in cushioned ease—or westward, across the ocean to a new land and a new life?

He looked at his chart. South by east, for the Bay St. Francis; southwest by west, for Guatemala; west-northwest for the coast of Maine. It was time to set a course. Which should it be? This decision would be final. There would be no turning back, ever again.

He looked far ahead at the empty horizon. Across it there seemed to move the sails of the fleets of the kings of long ago, coming out of the past and steering for a future they could not see, and they seemed to be accompanied by the prayers, the cries and the tears of the people who had trusted them and followed them and believed in them and died for them—an everlasting pageant, moving ghostly along the line where sky and water met.

Then the imaginary sails vanished and the sea was empty. Paul made his decision, reached down and marked his course on the chart, swung the tiller over until the compass needle registered correctly. And the little sloop sailed ahead, over an empty sea and under an empty sky; and the last line of the land fell away behind and was seen no more.

(THE END)

A request for an amendment to the Regulating zoning by-law to permit the erection of eight stucco cabins on the Gorge Hotel property, received by the municipal council last night, was referred to the engineer for a full report.

NINE ARE HELD SUSPECTS IN YACHT MURDER MYSTERY

H. Goodrich Is Re-elected

Sooke, Jan. 28.—The annual meeting of the Sooke Community Association was held in the Sooke Hall on Monday evening, with Horace Goodrich in the chair. The financial statement was read by the secretary, A. F. Brownsey, and a full report of the construction of the new community hall was given by C. A. Helgeson, chairman of the building committee. Mr. Helgeson said two or three weeks more would see the completion of the building as far as it was decided to complete it at this time. It is planned to have electric lights and heating installed at once. The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Horace Goodrich; secretary, A. F. Brownsey; directors, C. A. Helgeson, F. Thornber, G. H. Jones, S. L. Shields, J. Law-Beattie; auditor, F. Gray.

Oak Bay Relief Cost $1,008 Down

Direct relief costs in Oak Bay were $1,008 lower in 1936 than in 1935, figures presented to the municipal council yesterday showed. The net cost to Oak Bay last year was $3,834 and in 1935 it was $4,842. The gross cost in 1936 was $11,532, as against the lesser amount of $11,070. The reason for last year's saving was the increasing of the government grant for relief from $6,236 in 1935 to $7,697 in 1936, as a result of the new provincial-municipal agreement.

BISHOP RESIGNS SEE

Vatican City, Jan. 29 (Canadian Press).—Pope Pius today accepted the resignation of Bishop J. Henri Prud'homme of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, and named him titular Bishop of Salde.

Assessments In Oak Bay Higher

Land and improvement assessments in Oak Bay this year show slight gains over the 1936 figures it was shown in a statement to the Oak Bay Council yesterday. Improvement assessments this year total $8,130,920, as compared with $7,932,480 last year. Land improvements this year are $3,200,010, which represents a slight jump over the 1936 figure of $3,237,175.

NEW COUNCIL IS SWORN IN

Councillor L. C. Hagan Named Finance Chairman of Saanich For 1937

Reeve William Crouch and members of the 1937 Saanich Council yesterday evening were officially sworn into office by Robert Brydon, J.P., at the statutory meeting of the council.

After administering the oath of office, Mr. Brydon congratulated those who had been elected and also expressed his pleasure at the return of the unopposed members. He mentioned particularly the long service records of Reeve Crouch and Councillor L. C. Hagan, who, he said, had established records in this regard in Saanich.

Reeve Crouch, in thanking Mr. Brydon, referred to the long service of Mr. Brydon's family in Saanich and expressed his appreciation of Mr. Brydon's continued appearances before the council, year after year, to administer the oaths of office.

Councillor L. C. Hagan, Ward Six, the veteran of the council, who commenced his thirteenth consecutive term last night, was named chairman of the finance committee when the reeve announced personnel of the 1937 committee.

The reeve announced the formation of a new committee this year, to be known as the equipment committee. This group, he said, was to undertake a complete inspection of municipal equipment, which was in need of overhaul and replacement this year. The committee, he said, would only exist until its inspection and report had been completed.

The complete list of committees, with the first named being chairman, follows: Works committee, Councillor A. G. Lambick and whole council; finance committee, Councillors Hagan, G. A. Austin, L. H. Pasmore and Oliver; fire and water committee, Councillors Warren, John Watson, Austin and Lambick; health and morals committee, Councillors Pasmore, Watson, John Oliver and Austin; parks committee, Councillors Watson, Pasmore, E. G. Warren and Lambick; unemployment and relief committee, Reeve Crouch and whole council; Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee, Reeve Crouch, Councillors Hagan, Lambick and Oliver; equipment committee, Councillors Lambick, Hagan, Warren and Watson.

The whole council will sit as the Court of Revision on the assessment roll, the sitting commencing at 10 o'clock on February 8.

To Investigate Fire Hall Costs

Oak Bay Appoints Special Committee to Secure Estimates

The Oak Bay Council yesterday authorized appointment of a special committee to prepare complete estimates on the cost of constructing a municipally-owned fire hall, purchasing the necessary equipment and necessary maintenance.

The move was taken as a precautionary measure in the event of the City of Victoria refusing Oak Bay's offer of what it is prepared to pay for fire protection in 1937 and also in the event of the closing of the Duchesne Street hall meaning increased rates for fire insurance in the municipality, before expiration of the agreement on March 28.

The move was the first definite one taken publicly by Oak Bay towards establishment of its own hall in the event of present negotiations being carried on with the city not terminating satisfactorily.

TENDERS REPORT

A report on the negotiations carried on with the city during recent days was presented to the council yesterday by Councillor Richard Angus in which he said city representatives had claimed $26,000 to be the cost of operating the Duchesne Street Hall under the recent amendment to the Firemen's Hours of Work Act.

In the conferences held to date it is understood the city and municipal representatives have not been able to agree on a figure at which protection would be given the municipality. The city, it is believed, is seeking in the neighborhood of $18,000, while Oak Bay is only prepared to go as high as $14,000.

Following the presentation of the report, before any discussion was started, the council passed a resolution sending the entire matter of discussing the negotiations into committee of the whole council.

The motion to secure the estimates on a municipally-owned hall was presented by Councillor P. A. Gibbs immediately following Councillor Angus's report and the motion sending the discussion to committee of the whole.

TABLE OF COSTS

To support its claims for reduced fire protection costs the council was presented with a tabulated statement of protection costs of B.C. municipalities of various populations. These ranged from Port Alberni, with a population of 2,400, and cost of $2,163, to North Vancouver, with a population of 8,500 and a cost of $19,784. The figures omitted capital charges.

Oak Bay, with a population of 8,500 was within the category of Prince Rupert, with a 6,400 population and an annual cost of $11,071.

In connection with the suggested proposal that Oak Bay might build its own fire hall, Patrick Birley, architect, made application to the council, offering his services. This was referred to the special committee.

Taught Indians Sweater-making

Duncan, Jan. 29.—Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Church, Quamichan, tomorrow afternoon for
Mrs. Jeremina Colvin, who died Wednesday in her seventy-ninth year.
Mrs. Colvin was the widow of the late Robert Mount Colvin.
To her, it is asserted, largely belonged the credit for teaching the Indian women to spin wool and knit the Sitash sweaters for which the Cowichan Indians are now famous.

She was a wonderful spinner and knitter and it was almost forty years ago that she started to teach the Indians how to knit. Others subsequently taught them, but Mrs. Colvin is believed to have been the first. In fact, she knitted many "Indian" sweaters and other articles herself, her work being much finer than the general brand with which Cowichan is familiar.

Mrs. Colvin was also notable for her fine collection of curios.
Mrs. Colvin was born on July 9,
1858, at Sandusky, Ont., and came to Vancouver in April, 1885, to be married to Mr. Colvin, who predeceased her in 1926. They settled at Cowichan Station.

She leaves two daughters and two sons: Mrs. George Allman, Nanaimo;
Mrs. William Vaux, Duncan; Robert
Colvin, at home; and Magnus Colvin,
Cowichan Station; also one brother,
Andrew Robertson, Cowichan Bay, and one sister in Scotland.

Councillor George Austin, Ward
Four, was appointed Saanich representative on the Royal Oak Burial Park Board of Trustees, to replace former Councillor Fred Borden whose term expired this year. The replacement was suggested when the council deemed it advisable to have a direct representative on the board.

NEW RECORDS IN ESQUIMALT

Fire Loss and Motor Accidents Lowest in History

The smallest motor accident figure and the lowest fire loss in the history of Esquimalt were shown in the annual report submitted by Chief H.
W. V. Pecknold to the municipal police commission last night.
The report also showed 100 per cent of convictions in police court cases.

There were only eleven motor accidents reported during the year, the chief said. The highest figure in the municipality's history was 103 cases in 1929.

SMALL FIRE LOSS

The fire loss for the year was $570, with property valued at $3,000 and contents estimated at $1,500 involved.
There were thirteen calls during the year.

During 1936 the municipal police department received and attended to 3,075 complaints, and the motorcycle travelling 9,676 miles. A total of $1,825.75 was collected from all sources.
Of sixty police court cases brought during the year, there were fifty-six convictions, two withdrawals and two committals for trial. There were three motor fatalities and one suicide.

The financial statement of the police department showed expenditures of $5,222.90 on an appropriation of $5,542.00, leaving a surplus of $319.10.

The Oak Bay Council yesterday received from A. S. G. Muirgrave, acting engineer, an estimate of $3,600
as being the cost of paving Lincoln

Australian Cricketers Score 267 For Seven In Test Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

ED "STRANGLER" LEWIS is going to India to engage in a real old-time wrestling match. That is about the only place where the cash customers will stand for one. Lewis is to tackle Gama, the squatly 250-pound native, who for twenty-seven years has been champion at the dodge of making opponents face the sun. England has not yet recovered from its last old-type grapple, although it took place a quarter of a century ago. That one involved Gama. His rival was Stanislaus Zhyzsko, who remained on his hands and knees for more than three hours. The referee finally called it a draw.

Even today, when an ear-massager in England spends too much time in a defensive position on the canvas, the customers shout: "Get up, Zhyzsko, get up!" Just like Chicago fight fans used to chant fourteen in unison when Long Count Dave Barry stuck his nose in a ring.

The last "shooting match" in the United States took place during the heat of the more recent wrestling war. It brought out Lewis and Lee Wykoff at the New York Hippodrome last August. Wykoff was told that the old man would tire if he kept his feet long enough. They pulled and tugged for two hours and fifteen minutes and when they were finished, so was the bone-bending racket in Manhattan.

With all his experience, the forty-five-year-old Lewis will find wrestling Gama in India strange business.

The point there is to make the other fellow face the sun. This simply means throwing him on his back. There is no such thing as a three-second pin fall, nor even a rolling fall. A grapple simply is out of luck if he goes down with his map toward the heavens, and according to Zhyzsko referees are quick on the trigger.

Zhyzsko lasted just thirty seconds with Gama when he visited India in 1928.

Gama is fifty years of age, and strikingly refutes the claim that the legs go first. The legs are even more important in the Indian method than they are on a regulation mat, and Gama and his playmates know all the tripping tricks.

Gama met Zhyzsko at the Pole's own catch-as-catch-can game in London, where the fearsome mountaineer with the flowing moustache grabbed his opponent, broke three or four of his ribs, and made him submit.

"He threw me down so often that I finally decided to remain there," explained Zhyzsko. Stanislaus turned in a splendid job of that, and the suffering commenced when it was revealed that Gama, once having him on the deck, could do nothing about it.

They wrestle on oiled sand in India, where the trick is to fall face downward. If the powerful Lewis happens to fall in that direction and decides to make a day of it, he's likely to be instrumental in giving the Indians an even larger dose of what their Gama and Zhyzsko give the British.

However, with some idea of Gama and his game, predict that Lewis will last no longer than did Zhyzsko in India.

Indian wrestlers appear in the various maharajahs and princes' stables, just like race horses. Gama formerly was the pride and joy of the maharajah of Patiala, one of the richest and best known sportsmen in the world, and it is presumed that he still is.

The people come from miles around to see a tournament once a year, and the winner of all the squirming elephants is sent against the great Gama. "The Lion of the Punjab" always has prevailed, and gets in golden rupees the equivalent of $10,000 for his work.

Lewis is going into the mountains to take off fifty pounds before embarking to New Zealand and Australia, where he will warm up for Gama.

Then another real shooting match, with the big break the fact that to see it you will have to go to India.

BOXING

New York—Kid Chocolate, 127½, former world featherweight champion, outpointed Johnny Mirabella, 127½, Brooklyn (8).

Scranton, Pa.—John Henry Lewis, 176, light heavyweight champion, stopped Chester Palutis, 176, Scranton (7).

Marshalltown, Ia.—Ralph O'Dell, 205, Ottumwa, Ia., knocked out Young Hutchins, 184, Marshalltown (2).

McCabe Batting Leader With 88 Don Bradman Out

With Defeat Giving Ashes to England Home Side Opens Play at Adelaide

Allen Fields In Fine Style

Adelaide, Australia, Jan. 29.—Australia, making a bold bid to even the test cricket series with England, scored 267 runs for seven wickets today in the opening day of the fourth test, Stanley McCabe, Aussie vice-captain, made 88 of his team's runs in a brilliant innings lasting two hours.

Thirty-four thousand spectators knew defeat for Australia would give England test honors with three wins to one. The tourists won at Brisbane and Sydney, but failed at Melbourne. The fifth and final encounter between the two countries will be played late in February.

A. O. Chipperfield, New South Wales star, left out of the team that played at Melbourne, justified his return and at the close of play had obtained 45 not out.

W. A. Brown, Queensland opening batsman, hit up 42 but Don Bradman, Antipodean skipper, was caught by "Gubby" Allen after making 26.

FARNES SUCCESSFUL
Inclusion of Kenneth Farnes, Essex amateur bowler, in the Mother Country's eleven proved a surprise. One of the fastest of England's trundlers, he proved successful in the early part of the home team's innings, getting the wickets of Brown and K. E. Rigg at comparatively small cost.

William Voce, Nottinghamshire pro, was not as fast as usual, suffering from a sore back. Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire veteran, has a bruised hand.

J. H. Fingleton, New South Wales, partnered Brown at the start but was run out on a fast return by Voce with twenty-six runs on the board.

K. E. Rigg, Victoria, came in at the fall of the first wicket and seventy-two runs had been scored at the lunch interval.

Brown was dismissed after lunch before any addition had been made to the score. He was caught by Allen off Farnes. At 73 Rigg was out to the same bowler, Ames catching him behind the wicket on the off side.

Bradman and McCabe carried the score to 136 when Allen dislodged the Aussie captain's off-stump. Bradman batted a little over an hour for his 26.

Playing in his first test match, B. Gregory, young Victoria all-rounder, was the next man in. At the tea adjournment the score had mounted to 136. McCabe playing a superb innings, most of his runs coming from square cuts and drives to the off.

He was finally dismissed by Allen with a catch at short mid-on off R. W. V. Robins, Middlesex spin bowler. McCabe hit nine fours, the fifth wicket going down at 206.

Gregory did not survive long, Hammond getting him leg-before-wicket after he had compiled 23. The total score stood at 226.

Chipperfield and W. A. Oldfield, veteran wicketkeeper, played stubbornly but Oldfield went back to the pavilion at 249. He made only five runs when he was run out by Leyland. W. J. O'Reilly, New South Wales bowler, stayed with Chipperfield until the close of play.

The score card:

Kid Chocolate Still Winning

New York, Jan. 29.—Kid Chocolate, former world featherweight champion, outpointed Johnny Mirabella, Brooklyn, in the eight-round semi-windup bout at the Star Casino last night.

Each fighter weighed 127½ pounds. Chocolate looked unimpressive in taking another stride on the comeback trail. A right hook stunned him as early as the first round, and in the third he half slipped and was half knocked to the canvas by two light lefts and another right hook.

Canada Will Compete

New York, Jan. 29.—Honus Wagner, commissioner of semi-professional baseball, announced today completion of plans for an international series next year, with championship teams of Canada, the United States, Mexico and Cuba competing.

The competition, the announcement said, will be in the nature of a bracketed elimination after national tournaments in the four countries have been completed. Early in September (1938), title winning teams of Mexico and Cuba will meet in one seven-game elimination series, and those of Canada and the United States will battle in another. Victors in these two "semi-final" series will then meet for the championship beginning September 20.

At Montreal, Louis Duchesnay will stage the Canadian tourney in July. Each province will have its own elimination tournament with winners eligible for the national finals.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT
The son of Philip II, military genius of Macedonia, Alexander came by his martial ability as a natural heritage. It is said that as a youth Alexander burst into bitter tears when notified of his father's success in a battle. He feared there would be no lands left for him to conquer when he came to the throne.

At the age of sixteen, Alexander had his baptism of battle. Appointed to the regency of Greece in 339 B.C., he successfully suppressed a revolt. His men marvelled at the powers of leadership displayed by the youth. As a result, when Philip was assassinated in 336 B.C., the army rallied under Alexander's banner and he ascended his father's throne in that year at the age of twenty.

Surrounded on every side by enemies—with other claimants to his throne threatening rebellion—Alexander was forced to resort to brutal measures. One of the first acts of his reign was to have his uncle and half-brother put to death. Cleopatra, Philip's second wife, saw her little daughter butchered in her arms.

Then started Alexander's great campaign of conquest. Marching into Greece, he demanded the country's allegiance, and got it at the point of the sword. Through Persia, Phoenicia, Asia Minor, Egypt and India he and his men went, wiping out all resistance they encountered as a scythe would mow down grain.

In the year 323 B.C., just twelve years and ten months after he had ascended the throne, Alexander died, a victim of fever brought on by self-indulgence. At the time of his death he was master of all the then known world.

PEDEN BOYS RIDE FOURTH
Finish Lap Behind Winning Bike Team of Kilian and Vopel

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 29.—The favored German team of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel made up a lap deficit in the closing minutes of the six-day bicycle race here last night and won the race on sprint points from the United States team of Charlie Winter and Freddie O'Brien.

The teams traveled 2,576 miles, but the Germans had piled up 1,325 points to 692 for Winter-O'Brien. Twenty minutes before the end, Kilian-Vopel overcame the lap lead the United States duo had held since last night.

Seven teams out of nine finished the race. Trailing by eight laps the combination of Gruber-Camastore was ordered from the track late last night by the referee. Charley Yacino spilled and his partner, Tino Reboli, teamed with Jules Audy in the closing hour. Audy's partner, Reggie Fielding, dropped out because of illness. Behind this combination came the Peden brothers of Victoria.

Final standings follow:

	Miles	Laps	Pts.
Kilian-Vopel	2,576	0	1,325
Winter-O'Brien	2,576	0	692
Reboli-Audy	2,575	9	1,066

Jack Crawford Loses to Youth

Sydney, Australia, Jan. 29.—Jack Bromwich, seventeen, Australia's latest ambidextrous tennis sensation, upset the veteran Jack Crawford in the semi-final round of the Australian championships yesterday.

The youngster beat Crawford 6-1, 7-9, 6-4, 8-6, after a bitter battle that lasted two and one-half hours. Crawford was completely exhausted at the finish.

Bromwich, who had eliminated another Davis Cup player, Don Turnbull, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0, in the quarter-finals, will play Vivian McGrath in the final. McGrath also features a double-handed grip for backhand shots.

Recreation Girls Win Over College

S. Swift and M. Greenwood led the Recreationals with eight points each, and Lois Harris was high scorer for College with twelve.

Harold MacLean refereed. Teams and scores follow: Recreationals—N. Nedder 7, M. Greenwood 8, H. Haughton, S. Swift 8, E. Wingate and B. Hamilton. College—E. Whitaker 3, K. Juntet 2, E. Carter, J. McAllister, L. Harris 12, W. Bennett and E. Jones.

Knockout for Champion

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 29.—John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight boxing champion, won by a technical knockout in the seventh round over Chester Palutis, Scranton, in a non-title bout here last night.

Lewis weighed 179 and Palutis 176. Lewis caught Palutis on the ropes in the seventh and dropped him for a count of nine. Up again, Palutis absorbed a couple of lustrous rights, then he dropped and his hands hung limply at his sides. Referee Jack Walton stopped the contest.

A determined fighter, Palutis's efforts were unavailing against the superior technique of the titheholder. In the sixth, Palutis ripped a right hook to Lewis's heart, dropping him, but he was up without a count.

THOMSON SETS TOURNEY PACE

Shawnee Professional Scores Brilliant 67 in San Francisco Golf

San Francisco, Jan. 29.—Jimmy Thomson combined booming shots and a deft putting touch yesterday to post a 67 for leadership half way through the thirty-six-hole qualifying tests of the $5,000 San Francisco match play open tournament.

The Shawnee, Pa., professional's card was four strokes better than par.

Tied one stroke behind Thomson were Charles Congdon, Tacoma; Horton Smith, Chicago; Orville White, Chicago; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., and Lawson Little, former king of British and American amateurs.

Sharing the 69 post were Ed Dudley, Philadelphia; Byron Nelson, Ridgewood, N.J.; Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N.J.; Neil Christian, Yakima, and Bill Nary, Vallejo, Calif. After today's second qualifying round the low sixteen scores will pair off in the first round of the seventy-two holes of match play. Two rounds will be held tomorrow and two Sunday, with the finalist pocketing $1,000.

COAST HOCKEY SQUADS DRAW

Portland-Vancouver Tie 3 to 3 in Keen Game; Players in Fight

Portland, Ore., Jan. 29.—Portland pacemaker in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, failed to extend its margin over the fast-moving Vancouver Lions in a torrid match last night.

Three points continued to separate the two clubs after a 3 to 3 deadlock. It was one-all at the end of the first period, two-all at the end of the second, and three-all at the end of the third. Neither could score in the overtime.

Scharfe, taking a pass from Besler, scored the opening goal for Portland. A few minutes later Arnett soloed to place the Lions on even terms.

O'Neill put Vancouver ahead two minutes after the start of the second frame. Martin, Portland, came right back to score.

Vancouver led again in the third when O'Neill scored unassisted. Less than four minutes before the game ended Besler's tally brought the Bucks off the rocks of defeat.

SUMMARY

English and Scottish League Clubs Engage in Competitions; Arsenal Favorite at 6 to 1 to Capture English Trophy; Sickness Weakens Many Elevens

London, Jan. 29.—Experts are backing Arsenal to win the English Football Cup. As the thirty-two teams left in the competition prepare for fourth round battles tomorrow, the colorful Gunners are 6-to-1 favorites to win the trophy at Wembley May 1.

Manchester City and Everton follow at 10 to 1, while Wolverhampton Wanderers, Brentford, Grimsby Town and West Bromwich Albion are quoted at 100 to 8 odds.

Influenza and injuries have weakened many teams. Stoke City has been hit harder than the rest. The pottery town's team will be without six of its best players for the match at Preston.

Sir George T. Broadbridge, Lord Mayor of London, will attend the Arsenal-Manchester United match at Highbury. Playing in top form, the Gunners, helped by Alex James at inside-right, should take the measure of the Mancunians, fighting to avoid relegation to the second division of the league.

CROOKS OUT

It is probable the hardest battle of the day will be fought at Derby, where Derby County entertains Brentford, another strong London squad. The home team has spent the week at Rhyl, Welsh seaside resort, but their training has been seriously weakened by the absence of Crooks, international winger. Brentford will be at full strength.

Everton should have no difficulty in overcoming the weakened Sheffield Wednesday outfit, and West Bromwich Albion, playing its second cup tie at home this season, are firm favorites to defeat Darlington.

After its sensational defeat of Arsenal in 1933 cup tussle, Walsall is being closely watched. The team plays at Grimsby, where the home team are picked to win although they will play without Betmed, brilliant centre-half, who is suffering from an injured ankle.

The Preston North End-Stoke City duel will be notable because of the absence of Holdcroft from the home team's goal. It will be the first time in four years the international custodian has been dropped from the Lancashire team. With Stoke weakened on account of influenza, a level game is expected.

The first division is represented by fifteen teams in tomorrow's matches, nine second division clubs remain in the competition and eight from the third division.

TOMORROW'S DRAW

The revised fourth-round draw is as follows:
Bolton Wanderers vs. Norwich City.
Everton vs. Sheffield Wednesday.
Arsenal vs. Manchester United.
Luton Town vs. Sunderland.
Swansea Town vs. York City.
Conventry City vs. Chester.
Grimsby Town vs. Walsall.
Exeter City vs. Leicester City.
Preston North End vs. Stoke City.
Manchester City vs. Accrington Stanley.
Millwall vs. Chelsea.
Burnley vs. Bury.
Wolverhampton Wanderers vs. Sheffield United.
Tottenham Hotspurs vs. Plymouth Argyle.
Derby County vs. Brentford.
West Bromwich Albion vs. Darlington.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

Glasgow, Jan. 29.—Temporary truce in league warfare has been called as thirty-six clubs of the football league line up for the first round proper of the Scottish Cup competition tomorrow. Altogether twenty-seven games were scheduled, entries including sixteen minor league representatives, but three cup-ties have been played in advance.

Last week-end Solway Star gained second-round status. The 8 to 1 victory over Lartart Amateurs, Morton, second division club, was held to a 3 to 3 draw Wednesday by Murrayfield Amateurs, and Hamilton Academicals overcame Moor Park, 7 to 1. Pacemakers of the major division were in luck when drawn to play clubs of inferior calibre. And the squad to watch, as in league competition, is Glasgow Rangers, the cup-holders.

Queen of South caused a sensation late in October when the Dumfries eleven started a revival by holding Rangers to a scoreless draw at Ibrox Park. The second meeting will be staged at Dumfries this week-end, but Rangers have a knack of winning highly-important matches.

Broken Leg May End Great Hockey Career Of Howie Morenz

Canadiens Lose Star But Score Win Over Hawks

Whip Chicago 6 to 5 to Go Six Games in Front of Canadian Division

Rangers And Boston Draw

Even if there isn't another bone broken before playoff time this still will be the most disastrous National League season for injuries to high priced hockey workmen. The situation has the worried magazines walking around with their fingers crossed wondering where the jinx will strike next.

It wouldn't be so bad if the injured were second and third-string men who might be replaced easily. But the stars are being hit—the big fellows who get their $7,000 and perhaps more each season to draw the customers into expensive stadiums.

Latest recruit to the hospital wards is Howie Morenz, Montreal Canadiens' master performer at centre ice, who made a valiant comeback this season after two mediocre campaigns. He caught his skate in the boards in Montreal last night and, in falling, broke his left leg.

The "Stratford Streak" was injured in the first period and the Canadiens went on to win the game from Chicago Black Hawks, 6 to 5. But that wasn't important in the face of the injury to the great centre. It got scarcely more attention from observers than the 1 to 1 Boston Bruins and Rangers played in New York.

OUT FOR SEASON

Vastly more important was the question whether Morenz's forced retirement for the season will seriously affect the Canadiens' Stanley Cup hopes. They have proved before this season that no one cog is too important in their machine and perhaps they will do it again. The win put them up twelve points on Montreal Maroons, runners-up in the Canadian section, and they should be able to do some coasting to the playoffs.

Important, too, was the question whether the injury to the thirty-four-year-old Morenz will end his hockey career. While retaining his effective playmaking ability he naturally has slowed up in recent years and the injury may end his hockey days.

But they said that about Roy Worters when the New York Americans' goalie collapsed in New York and then underwent an operation. And Worters himself says he will be back next year in better shape than ever.

Morenz and Worters are only two of the great stars who have been put out of the game for the season. Eddie Shore, Boston's ace defenceman, Doug Young, Detroit Red Wings, and Harry Oliver, Americans, know they won't be back before next fall. Then there is young Orville Rowland of Wings who, like Young and Morenz, has a broken leg.

Other big shots have been out of competition most of the season, notably Charlie Conacher, Toronto, and Doc Rogness, Chicago.

A GREAT RECORD

If Morenz's career is ended he is going out the nice way. No veteran has ever made a more spectacular comeback than he did this season. And he has a great record to which he can look back.

Age Gains On George Wright

Famous Baseball and Golf Veteran Slowing Up As He Enters Ninety-first Year

Boston, Jan. 29.—Father time, who never has been able to give George Wright much of a race, appeared to be gaining a bit today on that grand old sportsman as he moved into his ninety-first year.

America's first baseball hero, who hit fifty-nine home runs in fifty-two games for the famous Cincinnati Red Stockings back in 1869, celebrated his birthday yesterday. He has been forced to take life easier since his last long trip.

While returning, alone, from the United States singles tennis championship at Forest Hills last September, he suffered a fall that shook him up to such an extent his family insisted he place himself under a nurse's constant care.

Wright is the son of a famous cricket-playing sire and father of two of this country's earliest tennis stars, Beals and Irving Wright.

At sixteen he joined the famous St. George's Cricket Club in New York and when baseball was being born, four years later, he became a member of the Nationals of Washington, an amateur club, along with his brother Harry.

In 1869, Cincinnati Red Stockings organized the first professional team in the game and the Wright brothers were engaged. George as shortstop for a $1,400 salary, and Harry as centre fielder, for $1,200.

Another decade passed and he became the father of American golf, as all the available records certify. While unpacking a case of cricket supplies from England, he came upon a dozen strange clubs. They were placed in a corner and forgotten until a Scot wandered in, saw them and explained their use. The visitor, who was about to return to his home, offered to send Wright the rules of golf and directions to lay out a course.

When they arrived, Wright and three of his business associates set out for Franklin Park and there played the first nine holes ever attempted in this country. Wright, then forty-two, went around in fifty-nine. That was probably the worst golfing performance of his life for, when he was eighty-nine, he won the medal in the Old Guard's Tourney with a nine-hole total of forty-six.

Favor Louis For Quick Knockout

Brown Bomber Expected to Make Short Work of Bob Pastor Before Biggest Fight Crowd of Season in New York Tonight

New York, Jan. 29.—Before the season's largest fight crowd, which figures to see considerably less than the ten-rounder paid for, Brown Bomber Joe Louis will make his first important start of the year tonight against husky Bob Pastor at Madison Square Garden.

On pre-fight calculations, some 18,000 of the faithful, paying as high as $16.50 each, may not be more than comfortably seated before the thing is over.

Each fighter has predicted a knockout victory for himself. The experts are almost unanimous in picking Louis for easy triumph. The betting odds, as high as 12 to 1 a few days ago, still are on Louis at about 5 to 1, for a quick finish.

BIG WEIGHT EDGE
In making Louis the overwhelming favorite, the experts point out that he is considerably more experienced than the former New York University footballer, and also will take a considerable weight edge into the ring. Joe probably will scale about 203 to his rival's 185.

The twenty-two-year-old Pastor considers himself sufficiently equipped with all the ring necessities to stop Louis. He insists he won't be frightened into defeat.

On comparative records, Louis has all the better of it. The only fighter met by both was Cleveland's Eddie Simms, knocked out by one Louis punch in December. Pastor had a tough uphill fight to get a draw, after Simms bounced the ex-collegian on the floor four times.

Jack Trammell, Youngstown, Ohio, knockout specialist, and Eddie Blunt from Carolina, meet in a six-round preliminary.

McINTYRE AND ARNOLD MEET

Are Matched For Semi-main Event on Wrestling Card Tomorrow Night

Sailor Jack Arnold, newcomer to Pacific Coast wrestling circles who hails from Omaha, will make his Victoria debut tomorrow night when he enters the ring at the Tillicum gym to tackle Donald McIntyre, Scotland, in the semi-main event on the four-bout card.

From reports it would appear that Arnold is a tough hombre, who has left behind him quite a number of roughed-over opponents. However, McIntyre has shown himself to be a capable performer in any company and should be able to make things interesting for Sailor Jack.

Hal Rumberg, Spokane exponent of "groan and grunt" and "King Kong" Cox, Lodi, California, are the two heavyweights billed in the main event.

Local grapplers will appear in the special and preliminary events.

The Esquimalt Council will sit as a court of revision on the assessment roll in the municipal hall at 8 o'clock on the evening of February 8.

embarked on a new year's work—peaceful deliberations throughout 1937

The Loughhead highway, along the north bank of the Fraser River, is named for him.

Councillors said no council member who refused to smoke the pipe was ever re-elected.

Charles Stephen Bridgen of 665 Constance Avenue passed away this morning in the Royal Jubilee Hospital, aged seventy-four years. He was born in Greenwich, England, and came to Victoria thirty-one years ago. He was an ironworker by trade. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Charles and Thomas, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all in Esquimalt. Private funeral services will be held on Monday at 8:15 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. A. Bischoffberger will officiate and interment will be in Colwood Burial Park. It is requested no flowers be sent.

LUCY BILLSBOROUGH

Yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital there passed away Mrs. Lucy Billsborough of 1603 Myrtle Street, aged fifty-eight years. She was born in Mansfield, Nottingham, England, and came to Canada thirty years ago, residing in Calgary before coming to Victoria some years ago. She is survived by three sons, Bob, Fred and Harry, all at home; two daughters, Mrs. H. Jensen, Victoria, and Mrs. L. Cascard of Vancouver. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary where funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. G. R. V. Bolster will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the Colwood Burial Park.

CAMIE COUPAL

Camie Coupal passed away at the family residence, 812 Old Esquimalt Road, yesterday, aged eighty-seven years. Born in St. Michel de Napierville, Que., Mr. Coupal came to this province thirteen months ago. He is survived by two sons, Joseph and George, Winnipeg; three daughters, Miss Elizabeth Coupal, at home; Miss Theresa Coupal (Sister Marie du Rosaire), Ottawa; and Mrs. Monaghan, Quebec, and one brother, Mr. Coupal, St. Remi, Quebec. Funeral services will be conducted on Tuesday morning, the cortege leaving Sands Mortuary Chapel at 8:40 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock Father A. B. W. Wood will celebrate Mass in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt. The remains will later be forwarded to Le Bief, Sask., for interment.

Progressive Arts To Repeat Play

A general meeting of the Progressive Arts Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. Matheson, Hampshire Terrace, yesterday evening. Many items connected with future activities were discussed and agreed on by those present. Two requests to repeat the one act play, "A Voice From the Living" were accepted.

Two new members were enrolled, and February 25 was set for the next general meeting when a programme of entertainment will be presented by members. Rehearsals will be continued each week as before. Mrs. Matheson was elected president, and S. Goodman, secretary, to fill the places of A. Heathcote and Miss E. Lytton.

After the business meeting a social hour followed with refreshments being served by the president, assisted by the Misses Matheson.

R. Stoffer, accompanied by Miss Bale on the piano, whistled and sang to the great enjoyment of all. Games of many kinds were played.

Thrift of several dozen spoons and other tableware, from the home of A. Jones, 1160 Rockland Avenue, on Wednesday night, was reported yesterday to the city police. Investigation disclosed entrance was gained by breaking a side window with an axe from the woods.

PASSES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Miss E. Clearhugh, Well-known Native Daughter, Dies in Hospital

Miss Ethelene Clearhugh of 1960 St. Ann Street, well-known native daughter, passed away suddenly this morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Miss Clearhugh had not been feeling well for several days owing to a cold, but her condition did not appear serious until yesterday afternoon, when she was taken to the hospital, and her death this morning at 2:30 o'clock was quite unexpected.

She was the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clearhugh and had spent all her life in this city. Miss Clearhugh was an active worker in the Kings Daughters for many years, being a charter member of the Hawthorne Circle and advisory leader of the A. H. Hardie and Jubilee circles. She had also been a member of Gonzales Chapter I.O.O.F. and was since its inception, and was a member of the executive of the Liberal Women's Forum for a number of years.

She is survived by two brothers, J. B. Clearhugh, K.C., and A. M. Clearhugh of Victoria.

Funeral services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, after which interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

NEW PLAN TO GUARD BONDS

Mayor Suggests Scheme to Eliminate Possibility of Negotiating Coupons

Elimination of coupons on Victoria City bonds held by the city in its sinking fund without altering the earnings of those bonds for sinking fund purposes will be effected if the City Council approves a recommendation of Mayor Andrew McGav in its next meeting.

The suggestion has been advanced to protect city sinking fund holdings without the necessity of paying the Bank of Montreal $1,500 for their safekeeping and coupon clipping.

The city now holds in its sinking fund a total of $2,957,000 worth of coupon-attached City of Victoria bonds. The issues are registered as regards principle, but if they fell into unscrupulous hands in their present state, some of the coupons could be cashed.

The mayor's plan aims to eliminate those coupons through cancellation so that they could not be negotiated under any circumstances.

The change will not effect the interest paid by the city on those bonds into the sinking fund to meet the eventual maturity of the issues. Interest requirements will be computed on an annual basis and provision will be made for their payment in the budget.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

JANUARY 29, 1912 (From The Times Files)

Bringing the lifeboat from Banfield to have a new engine installed, the steamer Newington, Capt. Barnes of the Marine and Fisheries Department, arrived in port on Saturday night from the west coast. The officials of the department have authorized the equipping of the big craft with a more powerful engine so as to give her more speed.

Sir Donald Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern, who has been in California for some time recuperating, is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow. He is now at Vancouver.

The annual meeting of the Agricultural Association was held Friday evening in the City Hall when the affair of 1912 and other important matters were discussed. The president, Dr. Talmie, was in the chair.

At a meeting of the Oak Bay Council this evening, applications will be considered for the position of clerk of the municipality. J. S. Floyd, about twenty applications were to be heard at noon, the time set for the closing of their receipt.

By a margin of one point, the score being 6 to 5, the Victoria rugby fifteen lost to Vancouver on Saturday night in the third of the McKeechle Cup games, and thus lost possession both of the McKeechle and Cooper-Kelth trophies, the former of which is emblematic of the B.C. championship and the latter of the Pacific Coast championship.

Judgment in favor of the plaintiff, Mrs. M. Romano, Seattle, in her suit for $3,000 from John Magiori on a promissory note, was handed down by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson today.

The decision was the outcome of a Supreme Court hearing here in which Mrs. Romano sued on a judgment obtained in the Superior Court of the State of Washington, on October 30, 1934.

Plaintiff issued the note in favor of the defendant, evidence at the trial disclosed, and secured shares in a winery as security. Those shares were sold for the sum of $50 by the plaintiff.

Mr. Justice Robertson ruled credit should be given for the $50.

Weather Causes Chimney Fires

Heavy stoking necessitated by the icy winds was responsible for ten fire calls yesterday evening, which kept the fire department busy between 6 o'clock and midnight.

Ten calls in all were answered by the department during the evening. Earlier in the day the department responded to an alarm to Topaz Avenue, where a barn owned by Gurdit Singh took fire. Three goats, a horse, a calf and a number of chickens were removed from the building by firemen, but the goats were so badly burned they had to be destroyed by S.P.C.A. officials.

The calls answered were: 619, corner of Bay Street and Fernwood Road; 655, 661 Pine Street; 704, 1026 Johnson Street and Cook Street near Pandora Avenue; 713, 540 Dunedin Street; 736, 2114 Central Avenue, Oak Bay; 806, 2720 Shelbourne Street; 806, 556 Michigan Street; 824, 517 Esquimalt Road; 1125, 1701 Hollywood Crescent.

MARKET NOTES

Wholesale egg prices dropped two cents last yesterday afternoon to 25, 23 and 21 cents a dozen for Grade A large, medium and pullet eggs, respectively.

William Hagger, Dominion egg inspector, this morning ascribed the drop in egg prices to lack of demand. Export business, he said, was at a minimum, and the local demand had decreased 40 per cent since Christmas.

The lemon market is up $2 a case this week. Orange prices are firm, and grapefruit prices have advanced 15 to 25 cents a case.

A carload of apples, including Delicious, Rome Beauties, Wagners, and the season's first Spies, arrived from the Okanagan yesterday.

A shipment of tangerines from Florida also arrived yesterday. A cargo of bananas is expected Sunday.

Cold weather has stopped shipping of rhubarb to the prairies, and as a result prices are being forced down here.

Cauliflower and celery prices are easing off, but lettuce prices continue to advance. No dry-belt potatoes have been shipped from the interior for two weeks because of cold weather, and a shortage faces wholesalers. The onion market is firm.

Request Site For Boathouse

The urgent need for a boathouse in which to house the Gonzales Bay Community Association lifeboat is stressed in a letter received today at the City Hall for consideration by the council at its session on Monday afternoon.

The communication is a repetition of a previous request on which action has been delayed through a misunderstanding with Oak Bay regarding the use of property on the dividing line between the two municipalities.

The council meeting on Monday has been called for 4 o'clock.

Willard's Son May Enter Ring

Pullman, Wash., Jan. 29. — Jess Willard's "little boy" has taken up regular boxing gloves, although he won't admit he's interested in following his father's capacious footsteps in the squared ring.

"I think he has the makings of a great fighter—if he put his mind to it," said the Deeter, boxing coach at Washington State College, where Jess Junior is a student.

Jess, the younger, at twenty-two, is six feet, one inch tall, dwarfed by his six-and-one-half-foot father who lost his heavyweight championship before the powerful fists of Jack Dempsey at Toledo, July 4, 1919. Junior weighs 200 pounds, likewise far under his father's fighting weight.

Royal Brougham Cited in Court

Seattle, Jan. 29.—Royal Brougham, sports editor of The Post-Intelligencer, was cited yesterday in superior court to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court for comment in his "Morning After" column in connection with tennis player Henry Prusoff's $50,000 damage suit against two Seattle corporations.

Judge Roscoe H. Smith said that Brougham "knew or should have known that said article would tend to influence the jury."

Prusoff, one-time net champion, seeks damages for an elevator accident a year ago in which he said his tennis ability was impaired by injuries.

THE BIG SEVEN

Johnny Gagnon of Montreal Canadiens, picking up a goal as the Canadian section leaders whipped Chicago 6 to 5, was the lone scoring leader to move up in the National Hockey League point-making race last night. Gagnon slipped into a third-place tie with Detroit's Marty Barry, two points behind the leading and idle Larry Aurie of Detroit. Gagnon's linemate, little Aurel Joliat, closed the gap between sixth place, and Harvey Jackson in fifth by gaining an assist.

The leaders follow:

Aurie, Detroit	17 12 29
Schriner, Americans	12 16 28

Mr. Hughes will devote his whole time to work in the mission field. He has been carrying on the work as superintendent of missions since June, 1935.

Under the direction of the British Columbia Conference he will work in the interior of the province seeking extension of the work in remote centres.

Dominion Stars Warner Baxter

Popular Star Plays Opposite June Lang in "White Hunter" Here Today

Braving hate, defying fear, fighting for love fiercely amid sinister dangers that threaten their very lives, Warner Baxter and June Lang, the sweethearts of "The Road to Glory," rise to even greater dramatic heights in their newest Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "White Hunter," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

Crowned by the outstanding performance of the stars and an impressive supporting cast including Gail Patrick, Alison Skipworth, Wilfrid Lawson, and George Haskell, the picture depicts driving drama charged with the menace of savage passions. Warner Baxter plays a hunter-guide in a strange and forbidding country.

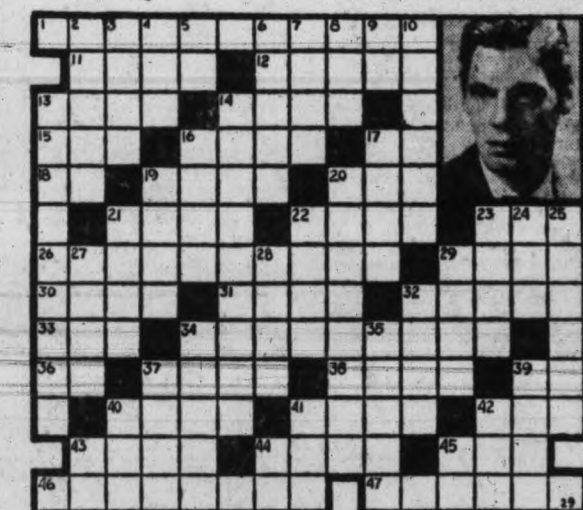

By a fateful coincidence he is engaged for the hunting expedition of Wilfrid Lawson, munitions magnate, and the man responsible for Baxter's exile and his father's death. Lawson is accompanied by his young wife, Gail Patrick, his daughter by another marriage, the beautiful June Lang, Alison Skipworth, a talkative shrew and George Haskell, her hen-pecked spouse.

It is not until their plane has departed, not to return for a month, that Lawson discovers who Baxter is. Certain that the man he has wronged will seek to square accounts, Lawson is overcome with fear and determines to forestall him.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

young Jonathan Blake, and Douglas Scott, as the youthful Horatio Nelson, discover a plot to scuttle a ship and collect the insurance from Lloyds, the boyhood friends determine to warn "Mr. Lloyd" of the plot. At the last moment, Horatio's uncle takes him off to sea, and Freddie sets out alone on the hundred-mile walk to London.

The young lad's courage so impresses Sir Guy Standing, head of the syndicate, that he rewards the boy by taking him into the business, where every year Jonathan grows in stature and reputation.

A light, romantic story is deftly and amusingly told on the screen of the Plaza Theatre today, where Paramount's breezy romance, "My American Wife," opened yesterday with Francis Lederer and Ann Southern in starring roles.

"My American Wife" is taken from an original by Elmer Davis and directed by Harold Young.

Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "Die Csardasfuerstin" (the Csardas Duchess) has been pleasantly fashioned into a photoplay, with Martha Eggerth and Paul Hoenig in starring roles. It is now being shown at the Oak Bay Theatre.

For its American presentation the film was edited with explanatory subtitles in English, thus increasing the potential enjoyment of those not familiar with the Hungarian work on which it is based.

Increase of 8 Per Cent in Numbers of Cars Visiting Canada Is Noted

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Number of tourists automobiles admitted into Canada last year increased 8 per cent over 1935, Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of Revenue, announced today.
 Under the three period classifications of forty-eight hours, sixty days and six months, 4,074,525 cars entered Canada in 1936, an increase of 469,437 over the previous year. The number admitted for forty-eight hours was 2,380,265 and the total for sixty days was 1,192,935. The third class, that of cars admitted for six months, totaled 1,323.
 Among leading ports where permits were issued to visiting tourists for all three periods of time was the Pacific Highway, B.C., with 31,155.
 The number of Canadian cars reported outwards for touring purposes last year totaled 689,674, an increase over 1935 of 30,415.

Canadians Join Forces in Spain

Five From Dominion Among Internationalists Going Into Loyalist Army

Canadian Press from Havas
 Paris, Jan. 29.—A contingent of five Canadians and twenty-five Americans left here last night with a group of international volunteers, including French, Germans and Belgians, for Perpignan, whence they expect to enter Spain and take up arms for the government cause.
 The Canadians are Tom Beckett, Frederick Lackey, Lawrence Ryan, Clifford Budgen and Henry Reattie, all believed to be from Toronto. The Germans are mostly exiles. The French groups number several dozens. The North Americans had been lodged with various leftist organizations here.

FOR DEMOCRACY
 A number of the group told the Havas correspondent: "Our American colleagues are animated by the same sentiments as we are. We represent here all shades of anti-fascism and all parties of the left in Europe."
 One of the Canadians confirmed the Frenchman's remarks in a brief statement: "We are going to fight for democracy and liberty, joined together in the spirit of anti-fascist union."
 It was noted all the United States and Canadian volunteers carried passports good for all countries except Spain.
 The volunteers will go directly to training camps at Albacete for instruction before being assigned to combatant units.

MORE AID TO INDIANS URGED

Canadian Press
 Edmonton, Jan. 29.—Criticism of provincial and federal governments for failing to fulfil treaty promises to assist Indians was voiced here yesterday by Rt. Rev. Gabriel Breynat, Bishop of the Mackenzie, on his return to Edmonton following a 4,000-mile inspection flight to Roman Catholic missions in the Northwest Territories.
 Bishop Breynat described the tour, inaugural flight of a proposed mission airplane service, as "definitely a success," and announced permanent inter-mission communication would be established in March with a machine, newer, faster and more suited to northern flying conditions than the present plane.

Twelve Seaplanes Fly From San Diego to Pearl Harbor in Twenty-one Hours and Forty-eight Minutes

Associated Press
 Honolulu, Jan. 29.—Battling through thick weather in the last stages of their record-breaking flight, twelve huge United States naval seaplanes completed the longest over-water mass flight in history early today—described by authorities as "a routine transfer of equipment."
 They officially covered the 2,553 miles from San Diego to Honolulu in twenty-one hours forty-eight minutes elapsed time.
 The seaplanes, bound for Pearl Harbor, were flown by a team of twelve pilots, including several who had flown the same route in 1935.
 The flight was made in three stages, with stops at San Diego, San Francisco, and Honolulu.

Big Ship Had Rough Voyage

Fifty Passengers, Playing Bridge, Knocked to Floor Aboard the Ss. Aquitania

New York, Jan. 29.—Minor repairs were being made to the liner Aquitania today following an Atlantic crossing described by crew members as the worst in memory. The vessel was thirty-six hours overdue yesterday from English Channel ports.
 Climax of the ugly weather encountered came Saturday when a great sea struck the Aquitania and sent passengers sprawling among overturned tables and chairs. More than a score of passengers were said to have been treated for minor hurts.
 Lady Dunn, en route to California to direct a Mozart festival, told of fifty bridge players being knocked to the floor on Saturday. It's remarkable how much brandy and champagne one can drink in a little emergency at sea," she said.

Centenarian Had Colorful Career

Associated Press
 Edmonton, Jan. 29.—Veteran of the United States Civil War, sailor, professional hunter and hunter before coming to Edmonton sixty-one years ago, Capt. Fritz Y. Friedrichs, 101, died here yesterday in the one-room shack in suburban Edmonton where he has lived alone for many years.
 Born in Philadelphia in 1835, Mr. Friedrichs marked his 101st birthday last September 15. Leaving home when fourteen years old, he roamed the world, learning three languages, taking part in hand-to-hand battles with natives in Central Africa and being shipwrecked in the Pacific before coming west.
 Capt. Friedrichs was the first immigrant agent in Alberta.
